

Will Complete Phase One Council To Study Legislation For 3 More City Sewers

Legislation for three additional sanitary sewer projects and the employment of a resident engineer and two sewer inspectors will be considered by Marion City Council at its regular meeting March 11.

The sewer committee of council decided to order in the three pieces of legislation at the close of a meeting held Saturday afternoon in City Hall.

Purpose of this meeting was to clarify various points of the city's sewer survey report. Representatives of Floyd G. Browne and Associates, consulting engineers who made the survey, were on hand to answer questions of city and county officials attending the meeting.

The sewer committee ordered resolutions of necessity prepared for proposed Silver St., Pearl St. and the Davids St.-Bellevue Ave. sanitary sewers.

These projects complete Phase I of a three-phase program recommended by Browne and Associates for sanitary sewer improvements in the city.

Council previously approved a general obligation bond issue to be paid from sewer service charge income, for $1,355,000 to cover the cost of Phase I improvements. Total estimated cost of all of the Phase I projects, including three previously approved sewers on Indiana Ave. and Forest Lawn Blvd., is $940,000. Bids for the Indiana Ave. and Forest Lawn Blvd. sewers will be opened Thursday noon.

The other two pieces of legislation to be considered by council March 11 are to authorize the safety-service director to employ a resident engineer and the two additional sewer inspectors in the city engineering department.

The resident engineer is to supervise the sewer improvement construction projects and the two inspectors are to assist him and also to start a search for cross-connections between sanitary and storm water sewers.

During any free time they may have, these two inspectors may be used for a house-to-house canvass to attempt to locate connections of house service lines to sewers in the streets.

In making their sewer survey, Browne and Associates found 31 cross-connections between main sewers. Many of these connections were originally made to provide temporary relief for some sewer trouble, but were never eliminated. Together with improper house connections they have led to considerable intermixing of storm and sanitary sewer waters.

Unless these conditions are corrected, Browne and Associates said in their survey report, the construction projects recommended to improve the sewers will be only about 50 per cent effective.

The engineers advised that a program be started immediately to locate and eliminate all such cross-connections and suggested that the program be financed by setting aside $40,000 of the sewer service charge money each year.

All these points and others were discussed at the meeting Saturday afternoon.

C. R. Martin, project engineer on the survey report for Browne and Associates, pointed out that the engineers didn't state how long the $40,000 a year program should be carried on. He said that it should be continued until such time as the benefits derived from it are less than the cost. This may be within two or three years, he said.

During the discussion on the need for the two additional inspectors R. Guy Bigelow, Safety-Service director, admitted the city now has no positive assurance that there are no illegal cross-connections being made between the sanitary and storm water on private property.

Councilman R. G. Haldeman had asked if the present sewer inspector, Earl Gibson, is inspecting the connections of house service lines to the sewers in the streets. Mr. Bigelow said that he does inspect these connections but that he has no authority to inspect the part of the house service line which is inside private property lines.

Emmett Osterholt, Sixth Ward, said that the city ordinances state that any sewer in the city must be inspected before the trench is closed. He added that City Solicitor Riley Hall made two verbal rulings to this effect. He said he would contact Mr. Hall and ask him to make a written ruling on this point.

There was no attempt at the meeting to cover the entire survey report, point by point and page by page.

Instead, at the suggestion of Mr. Bigelow, the discussion was confined to the general recommendations and some details of the

U.N. Awaits New Data on Withdrawal

Arab Delegations Set To Press Sanctions if Ben-Gurion Reneges

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Israel planned to give the U.N. General Assembly further word today on prospects for its withdrawal from Egypt and the Gaza Strip.

Arab delegations were expected to press their resolution demanding sanctions against Israel should Israel retreat from its promise of "full and prompt withdrawal" made to the Assembly Friday by Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Reconciled To Move

Word from Jerusalem was that Premier David Ben-Gurion and a majority of his Cabinet were reconciled to going ahead with the withdrawal despite considerable opposition from both government allies and opponents.

Although two of the five government coalition parties said they opposed withdrawal, it was believed in Jerusalem a majority of the Knesset (Parliament) would endorse a troop pullout.

Israeli U.N. Delegate Abba Eban said on a New York television program, "We shall also make our position clear in the General Assembly. There will be a statement by the government of Israel to the U. N. Monday."

There was no official comment from Cairo, but two Cairo newspapers said President Nasser's government was not bound by any "bargains" between the United States and Israel.

'No Change' in Situation

"The political situation after aggression must be the same as before aggression," Al Ahrum said. "What follows a withdrawal is Egypt's asking for compensation for aggression against her."

Muhammad H. El Farra of Syria, an Arab League spokesman at the U.N., told a reporter his group would push its resolution calling the sanctions against Israel "if no signs of complete withdrawal appear."

But Foreign Minister Charles Malik of Lebanon said sponsors of the resolution would make up their minds only after they knew Israel's final decision. The resolution has been held in abeyance pending the outcome of Israel's negotiations with the United States and the U.N.

A U.S. delegation source said there was "still a possibility" that the United States would introduce a substitute resolution to begin drawing up a week ago but shelved when Mrs. Meir's announcement was arranged.

The American source said this would have embodied sanctions provisions "quite different" from those in the Asian-African proposal and presumably less harsh or less immediate. The Asian-African resolution would call on all U.N. members to stop military, financial and economic aid to Israel until she pulls her troops back.

The American resolution as tentatively drawn was understood to have proposed putting the Gaza Strip under temporary U.N. administration and declared the Gulf of Aqaba open to ships of all nations.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Friday endorsed freedom of navigation in the gulf, which leads from the Red Sea to the Israeli port of Eilat. He approved putting UNEF into the Gaza Strip but said the area's future must be worked out within the framework of the 1949 Egypt-Israel armistice agreement.

Interpretations Vary

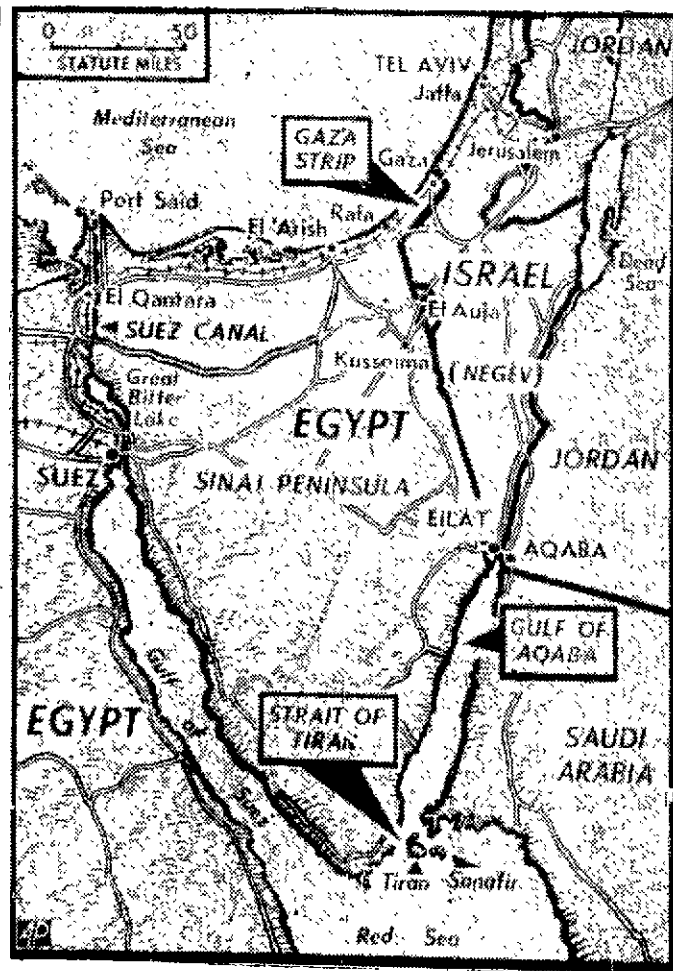

Last week he directed his disarmament aide, Harold E. Stassen, to report no longer to him but to Dulles in the State Department. That was interpreted in some quarters as a major delegation of presidential authority—and a more passive role for Eisenhower henceforth in a very important field.

The counterargument is that it simply was a victory for Dulles, who reportedly did not like the idea of a diplomatic function such as disarmament negotiations being carried on pretty much independently of the State Department.

And those on that side of the argument note that Eisenhower has said publicly several times that Dulles never makes a top policy decision without determining first that Eisenhower agrees.

U.S. Position Reported 'Clarified'

Ben-Gurion Gives Final Order For Pullout From Gaza, Aqaba

WHERE ISRAELIS WITHDRAW. Boxes indicate where Israelis will withdraw military forces. To be evacuated are the disputed Gaza Strip and the area around the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba. Israel said it expected United Nations forces would take over in Gaza. The Strait of Tiran, Israel said, should be kept open to ships of all nations. It was at this strait that Egyptian guns halted ships of Israel. Gaza had been the scene of fierce Egyptian-Israeli fighting at the raid level before Israel invaded Egypt.

Move Is Met With Dissent In Jerusalem

Demonstrators Ask Premier To Resign; Police, Rioters Clash

JERUSALEM (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion gave the final orders today directing withdrawal of remaining Israeli troops from Egypt. The decision brought bitter demonstrations in Jerusalem.

Hundreds of demonstrators marched through the streets demanding that the Ben-Gurion government resign.

"Stop the withdrawal," the crowd shouted.

Police squads clashed with the demonstrators and made several arrests.

Dayan and Burns Meet

The demonstrations broke out as Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli chief of staff, met Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the United Nations Emergency force, to work out details of the U. N. takeover in the Gaza Strip and along the Gulf of Aqaba.

The conference was at Lydda Airport.

A government spokesman announced Ben-Gurion instructed Dayan to invite Burns to a meeting this afternoon "to discuss measures necessary to carry out the withdrawal of forces in accordance with the statement by the foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir."

The official said Israel also is ready to withdraw her civilian officials from the Gaza Strip.

Goes Before Knesset

The announcement was made in advance of an appearance by Ben-Gurion before the Israeli Knesset (parliament) at which the grizzled old Premier was slated to reaffirm Israel's decision to pull out of the disputed area, trusting to the United States and the United Nations for protection against a renewal of Egyptian shooting.

Mrs. Meir had announced to the U. N. Assembly Friday that the Israeli troops would retire behind the 1949 armistice lines. But opposition to the decision in Israel resulted in instructions from Ben-Gurion to Ambassador Abba Eban to seek "clarifications" of the assurances given by the United States.

After a weekend of Cabinet meetings and conferences, informed sources said the Premier had finally gotten his divided government's permission to pull the troops back.

Could Start This Week

Withdrawal could get under way this week.

The dramatic announcement was made to newsmen at midday as Ben-Gurion was engaged in non-stop conferences with leaders of political parties, including the leaders of the two parties in his coalition which threatened to quit over the withdrawal issue.

Ben-Gurion ordered the withdrawal to proceed even before he reported to the Knesset or held a "final" meeting with his Cabinet.

The official spokesman said the reason for the go-ahead was that "latest clarifications" of the American position have been received from the United States, and that Ben-Gurion had been in talks with most Cabinet members.

Simultaneously it was announced Ben-Gurion will report to the Knesset Tuesday.

Ben-Gurion's withdrawal order, taken over the head of the Knesset, was unusual, if not unprecedented. Never in the nine-year history of Israel has a premier taken a major step such as this without going before parliament.

New Orleans Jammed

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Proteus, character—changing sea god, ruled this Carnival City today on the eve of Mardi Gras, after a weekend in which several potentates battled for dominance.

Hotels and motels reported capacity crowds, and union passenger terminal said some 54 Pullman cars containing about 1,000 visitors were parked here. Terminal spokesmen said the railroad yards were full.

MONACO ROYALTY. Prince Rainier III and Princess Grace wave to subjects from the palace window in Monte Carlo, after returning from christening ceremonies for their six-week-old daughter, Princess Caroline, who appears oblivious to all the excitement as she is held by her mother. The Princess was christened in the cathedral of the tiny principality.

IRA Move Feared

Tension Grips Ireland On Eve of National Vote

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Tension gripped Ireland today on election eve, sparked by fears that the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) might strike a dramatic gesture of defiance.

Although the campaign was the quietest since southern Ireland's 26 counties won independence in 1922, special emergency precautions were taken along the jittery frontier separating the republic from the six British-ruled northern counties of Ireland.

De Valera in Comeback

American-born, 74-year-old Eamon de Valera, in fighting trim though nearly blind, has wound up a strong campaign to win back the premiership. De Valera's Fianna Fail (men of destiny) appeared out front in the campaigning for the Republic's 18th national election Tuesday.

The election was forced by the resignation of a coalition government led for the past three years by John A. Costello, mild-mannered 65-year-old Dublin lawyer.

Condemns Raids

Sinn Fein, political arm of the illegal IRA, has entered a slate of 19 parliamentary candidates for the election as a show of strength. The Sinn Feiners say they would not take their seats in the Dail (parliament) even if they won, as a protest against the partition of Ireland.

The established political parties:

Senators Recommend

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee announced today its unanimous approval of President Eisenhower's nomination of William J. Brennan Jr., 50-year-old New Jersey Democrat, as a justice of the Supreme Court.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) announced the committee also have voted at a closed meeting to conduct public hearings March 18 on the nomination of Charles Evans Whitaker of Kansas City to another seat on the court.

Eastland told reporters the vote on Brennan was 11-0, without debate and without any unfriendly comment.

Brennan already is serving on the court under a recess appointment made last fall on the retirement of former Justice Sherman Minton. He has been attacked by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) but seems assured of confirmation by the full Senate.

Eastland said the hearings on Whitaker, 56-year-old Republican, will be held after a subcommittee "screens" any requests from witnesses who may desire to be heard.

Tax Books Are Closed

For 1st-Half Payments

Marion County tax collections for first-half payments officially closed at 3 p.m. Saturday, but Marion Hinklin, county treasurer, said this morning it will be approximately two weeks before the books will be ready for posting and checking.

Mr. Hinklin noted that a tremendous volume of tax returns had swamped his office as the Saturday deadline neared. He reported that the 10 per cent penalty for delinquent payment of taxes will be applied as soon as the tax lists are posted.

Delegates Authority

Controversy Over Ike's 'Passive Attitude' Rages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower in these early days of his second term tending toward a more passive role in direction of the government?

You can get a spirited argument on any "yes" or "no" answer to that question, or to these others:

Is he now delegating more top policy authority to others? Does he look forward even more than during his first four years in office to trips away from Washington for a mixture of relaxation and work?

Keyed to Mideast Crisis

Some of the talk has been keyed to the Middle East crisis.

His request for authority to use American forces in that region, if necessary, and for permission to spend 200 million dollars there in foreign aid was having rough going in the Senate when, early in February, the White House announced Eisenhower would leave Feb. 8 on his annual trip to south Georgia for quail hunting and golf as the guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

At the same time, Israel was still defying United Nations demands that it pull its invading troops out of territory claimed by Egypt.

He did cut three days from the two-week stay he had hoped for and returned to Washington Feb. 10 for conferences with Secretary of State Dulles and congressional leaders of both parties.

Talks With Saud and Mollet

Just before going to Georgia, he had talked personally and at length with Saudi Arabia's King Saud, as he had earlier with India's Nehru and has since with France's Premier Guy Mollet.

At the Humphrey plantation, he conferred by telephone at least once daily with Dulles, who was in Washington, regarding the Middle East. Some days they talked three times.

Eisenhower also transacted other government business there, just as he does from all other places when he is away from Washington.

But that is where the argument arises. There are some who contend Eisenhower's role in the Middle East crisis was a relatively passive one during his stay in Georgia. Others—White House staff members, for instance—argue that except for face-to-face contacts Eisenhower can and does keep in just as close contact with developments while he is away as when he is in the White House.

At a news conference shortly before going to Georgia in February, Eisenhower said he always insists on such trips every once in a while to help keep physically fit.

Interpretations Vary

Last week he directed his disarmament aide, Harold E. Stassen, to report no longer to him but to Dulles in the State Department. That was interpreted in some quarters as a major delegation of presidential authority—and a more passive role for Eisenhower henceforth in a very important field.

The counterargument is that it simply was a victory for Dulles, who reportedly did not like the idea of a diplomatic function such as disarmament negotiations being carried on pretty much independently of the State Department.

And those on that side of the argument note that Eisenhower has said publicly several times that Dulles never makes a top policy decision without determining first that Eisenhower agrees.

Missing Girl's Body Is Found By Playmate

No Hint of Foul Play; Discovery Is Made in Vacant Home Closet

BELLMAWR, N. J. (AP)—The search for tiny Mary Jane Barker ended in a closet of a vacant ranch house Sunday where a playmate found the huddled body of the pretty, blonde child.

Six-year-old Maria Fietta, visiting the newly built house of her aunt, playfully threw open a closet door. Her puppy, which had disappeared along with Mary Jane last Monday, bounded out, alive and frisky. On the floor lay 4-year-old Mary Jane, her blonde tresses covered by the hood of her jacket.

A medical authority connected with the investigation—he declined to be identified—said in his opinion the child probably died of fright and starvation after being trapped in the cold darkness with the black spaniel puppy. A preliminary autopsy indicated Mary Jane had eaten nothing since she drank a glass of chocolate milk shortly before she vanished about 10:30 a.m. last Monday.

Proves Deadly as Name

Navy's Guided Missile 'Sidewinder' Is Unveiled

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—Guided-missile Sidewinder is as deadly as its name, the Navy proved in the first public demonstration of the new weapon.

The pilot of a Demon jet fighter knocked a drone target plane out of the sky with a Sidewinder on his first shot at this naval ordnance test station Friday.

The Sidewinder's sting was shown when the Navy took the wraps off its vast China Lake facility for nearly 200 newsmen.

The station was established in 1943 in the southeastern California desert. It developed the Holy Moses and Tiny Tim ground-to-air rockets used in World War II.

Major Facility

Today, it is the Navy's major facility for development of rockets and missiles.

The Sidewinder—a product of the scientists and military men who staff this station—is an air-to-air weapon fired by a plane to destroy another plane. It was the first guided missile conceived, developed and produced in its entirety by a government laboratory.

It was named for the lethally poisonous rattlesnake that infests this desert country.

Fleets Equipped

The Atlantic, Pacific and 6th Fleets have been equipped with the Sidewinder.

The missile, Navy officials explained, greatly extends the "kill range" of a fighter or bomber.

"It's like having a six-foot reach on the other fellow in a boxing bout," said Lt. Cmdr. C. A. Tierney.

In its demonstrations of air fire power, the Navy established another "first" for the benefit of visiting newsmen when a fighter plane fired 194 Mighty Mouse rockets in one pass. This, officers said, was the greatest number of Mighty Mouse rockets ever launched from a plane in a single salvo. The previous top was 150.

In and About Our Schools

Now that basketball tournaments are past history, student attention is turning to field trips, class plays and other activities which are being scheduled in many of the city and county schools.

—Harding—

Two Harding students have been chosen to represent the local vocational industrial club in a statewide meeting of club representatives in Columbus Tuesday for the purpose of seeing state government in operation.

The boys are Duane Rasey and Ralph Coffman. They will be accompanied by Donald Neimeister, club adviser. The trip will include a tour of offices of the governor, secretary of state, treasurer, auditor and attorney general as well as chambers of the Supreme Court, House and Senate.

Juniors in the machine shop course at Harding will take a field trip to the Hydraulic Press Manufacturing Co. in Mount Gilead Wednesday afternoon.

Robert Wallace, assistant personnel manager of the plant, will conduct the group on its tour. The trip will be supervised by Mr. Neimeister, shop teacher.

Plans for the Future Teachers of America banquet, scheduled for March 14, were made when the group met Thursday. The dinner will be held in the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Miss Lucile Foreman spoke to the club concerning Miss Louise Cunningham, a deceased Harding teacher, for whom the chapter has been named. She told of Miss Cunningham's many interests such as poetry, music, nature and astronomy.

Harry Alexander, assistant superintendent of Marion County Schools, will be the speaker at the vocational industrial club meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the school. He will tell of experiences he had while in Greece.

Props and Q's, the dramatic club at Harding, will present its second assembly program of the school year on Friday. The program will include a panel discussion, readings and a humorous debate.

Participants in the panel discussion entitled "Lowering the Voting Age to 18" will be: Sue Smiley, Charles Balthaser, Dixie Geddis, Nancy Thomas, Gene Brake and Melinda Kohler.

Readings will be given by Russell James and Dave Walker. Participants in the humorous debate are to be Leo Savage, Ray Shumaker, Gwen Irwin, Mary K. Jobe and Wally White.

Portions of the program will be presented in Fremont at the annual speech festival on April 10. Adviser of the Props and Q's is Robert Webb.

—St. Mary—

St. Mary recently became the fourth Catholic high school in Ohio to organize a Key Club. Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, Key Club members are selected from the upper three classes on the basis of scholarship, good character and leadership ability.

John Head, Key Club chairman for the local Kiwanis Club, said St. Mary has applied for a Key Club charter. He indicated it would be granted within 30 days.

Newly elected Key Club officers are Terry Flynn, president; Jon Smith, vice president; Steve Smith, secretary; Joe Cochran, treasurer; Bill Robbins, senior class representative; Tom Maloney, junior class representative; and Joe Krigbaum, sophomore class representative.

Other charter members are John Bull, Larry Kelly, Gary James, Dave Kelly, Greg Axe, Hank Krigbaum, Jack Simons, Murray Lavendar, Bill Ring, Dick Stephenson, Joe Cochran, Dennis Shearer, Steve Gibb and Ray Herneise.

The president and vice president of the club accompanied local Kiwanians Mr. Head, Dr. Robert Wagner and Charles Simons to Mansfield Thursday for a charter party of two new Key Clubs in the Mansfield high schools.

A gay atmosphere and colorful Spanish food prevailed in the Mardi Gras celebration held at noon today in the cooking lab by the Spanish Club, "Los Conquistadores de Espanol."

Authentic Spanish food was served to all members and the custom of breaking a gaily decorated clay jug, a pinata, filled with a variety of gifts for all club members, was performed.

Committees and their members were:

Decoration committee, Josie Huber, John Bull, Gary James, Jim Ballenger, Bill Robbins and Mike McKim; menu committee, Vella Mae Signorello, John Bull and Gary James.

Preparation committee, Michaela Lyons, Sue Gander, Dorothy Maniaci, Sharon Dugan and Esther Troiano; clean-up committee, Al Sansotta, Dave Shockey and Tom Hogan.

—Edison—

The ninth grade at Edison will present two one-act plays on Thursday, March 22, at 8 p.m. Titles of the productions are "Who's Afraid?" and "Bobby Sox."

A matinee performance will be given March 21 at 3:45 p.m., especially for elementary children. Matinee tickets will cost 20 cents, while tickets for the March 22 performance will be 35 cents.

"Muskingum Country," a color film on the Muskingum Conservancy District, will be shown during Friday's assembly.

—Taft—

Ensemble groups from the Harding High School band and orchestra will present the assembly program Friday at Taft. Arrangements for the program are being made by Homer Huffman.

Representatives of school clubs and organizations at the school will explain the extra-curricular program to all seventh graders Tuesday as part of the guidance program at Taft.

The PTA will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the music room with the school band and orchestra under Edward Miller providing several selections.

Cecil Gabler, assistant to the superintendent of schools, will be the speaker. Devotions will be presented by the Tri-Hi-Y group at the school.

Taking part in the devotional program will be Sandra Murphy, Judy McAdow, Mary McGhee, Judy Spring, Sharon Rowland, Waneta White, Becky Somerlot, Sharon Vance and Chloe Crowder.

The Taft library club and Mrs. Mary Boyher, librarian, will be featured on "Schools Visit You," the weekly radio program over WMRN Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

—Baker—

The annual athletic banquet at Baker will be held Tuesday night with Clyde Lamb, athletic director at Ohio Northern University, as guest speaker. His topic will be "Boys I Have Known." The banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. George L. Stafford, PTA president, will be toastmaster.

Kickoff for the annual magazine sale will be Wednesday. Alwyn Crane is in charge.

—George Washington—

Chemical and physical changes are being studied by Miss Etta Carter's third grade students at George Washington.

Chemical gardens showing what takes place when certain ingredients are mixed have been made by the students and the products watched with interest. Many other experiments are planned to show how chemical changes are brought about.

"Friendly Animals," a unit encompassing social studies, science, arithmetic, reading, music and art, is being studied by Mrs. Mary Jo Williams second grade class.

A trip to the Marion Carnegie Library to find books concerning animals is being planned by her students. They have arranged a bulletin board showing pictures of domestic animals, too.

In addition, the children, are making books of stories they have written about the different animals. They presently are engaged in making a model farm on which they will display the "friendly animals" being studied.

—Pearl St.—

Faculty members at Pearl St. enjoyed a spaghetti dinner prepared by Thomas Petrie, principal, at the home of Mrs. Jane Myers on Thew Ave. Thursday night.

—Silver St.—

Boys and girls in Mrs. Laura Carter's second grade at Silver St. enjoy a very novel reading corner. The piano has been used to set off the extra space in the room.

To the back of the piano has been stapled cardboard on which colorful covers of interesting books appear. Suitable verses and maxims to encourage reading also are found there.

Interesting pictures of children and animals enjoying books also serve to attract the youngsters' attention. Tables with books lying on them have been placed in the corner.

When children complete their work they are allowed to slip quietly to the corner and there sit and enjoy the books at their leisure.

—Vernon—

An 18-volume encyclopedia and 56 paper-backed science books have been purchased by the PTA for use in the school library. The encyclopedia is entitled: "Our Wonderful World."

—Glenwood—

Mrs. Mildred Carroll's sixth grade at Glenwood has been keeping a record of the number of library books read by each student. The total now is 447.

Each student gives an oral report either to the teacher or to the class on the books read.

The group also conducted an experiment to see how plants give off moisture while growing. They placed a plastic bag over a plant and noticed that this bag, unlike one not placed over the plant, collected moisture.

Ten parents visited Mrs. Genevieve Bracy's first grade class Thursday to hear the students read. The visit was prompted by each student writing his parents

Journalism Pupils Put Learning to Use on Herald

Harding Students Write, Edit News Copy, Sell 'Ads' for Paper

By JUNE ROSEBERRY

Who, what, when, where, why—these are the questions that keep a staff of approximately 40 students at Harding busy every week on the school's printed publication "The Harding Herald."

Journalism comes alive for these student reporters as they put to work the principles they learn in journalism class. The thrill of seeing one's story in print and an occasional by-line heightens anticipation among the juniors and seniors who enroll in the elective journalism course and serve on the newspaper staff, both under the direction of Miss Lucile Foreman.

"IF IT'S NEWS, It's In the Herald" is the standard the beginning journalists in Harding classes have upheld for years. They learn the meaning of news not only through text study, but through analyzing the editorial content of four or five dailies, including The Marion Star.

The two journalism classes, each composed of 23 students, take turns putting out the weekly issue of the school paper. Staff editors, however, do not rotate, but maintain their office throughout the year.

Unlike many courses, journalism does not have any prerequisites. The only requirements, according to Miss Foreman, are satisfactory English grades and an interest in writing.

The vast operation of news gathering for the four-page printed chronicle begins Monday of each week when co-editors Sandy Coffae and Jan Taylor hold conference with Darl Gatchell, principal, to map out news events for the following week.

Stories then are assigned to reporters, and the wheels of editorial operation begin turning.

In between the after-school date for a coke at the soda fountain and the inevitable date with the books, the aspiring reporters contact their news sources, mostly teachers, and get the story.

ON WEDNESDAY the deadline falls and all copy must be turned in at the journalism room which by then is the hub of busy activity. Copy editors Sandy Jenkins and Hannah Morgan set to work reading the stories and after these have received final approval, the typists begin work preparing each story for processing to the printer.

Members of the typing staff are Mary Barkley, Judy Speck, Janice Young, Sue Smiley, Sally Larimer, Loretta McCartney, Dana Blough, Rita Ratliff and Marlene Baehr.

Next the co-editors lay out the paper on what is termed the dummy, placing news stories in key a personal invitation to attend the reading session.

—Mark St.—

Boys and girls of Mrs. Dorothy Sult's special class at Mark St. have been making "magic rocks" by pouring ammonia, bluing and salt over pieces of coal.

Kite-making in Miss Helen Sloat's fourth grade is keeping students busy applying artistic and mathematical knowledge in figuring the proper measurements and making colorful designs for the kite flaps.

The annual cookie sale sponsored by the PTA is underway with orders being taken for later delivery. Proceeds of the sale will be used to purchase additional playground equipment.

—Main St.—

Signs of spring are being studied by Miss Virginia O'Dowd's second graders at N. Main St.

Twigs of forsythia and pussy willow have been brought into the classroom and forced to bloom. An amaryllis bulb, too, has been planted and its daily growth measured.

Last week one of the students reported seeing the first robin. The class then studied about robins and drew pictures. As each sign of spring is noted the class studies about the event and draws pictures to illustrate.

—Oak St.—

Days of long ago provide interest for boys and girls in Mrs. Belma Boxwell's third grade which is studying colonial life.

Candles of parawax, crayola, crayons and string have been made. Butter has been churned in an old-fashioned churn. Students now are planning to write papers on food, clothing, transportation and customs of long ago.

The class also is planning to invite parents to a program during which exhibits of colonial life will be shown. Papers will be read and songs of colonial days will be sung.

The school has received 70 new Reading Circle Books purchased by the PTA.

—Olney Ave.—

A set of pictures entitled "Children of Many Lands" is helping students in Miss Ruth Auman's sixth grade at Olney to become better acquainted with their world neighbors.

Full page drawings of the children in the pictures have been positions and writing headlines to accompany both those and the feature material. Layout of the sports page is left to the sports editor.

COPY IS SENT to the printer in Cardington on Thursday and Friday, with the finished product returned to the school on Monday. The circulation manager, Roberta Russell, and her assistant, Rose Caruso, then set to work folding, addressing and mailing copies.

On Tuesday morning papers are distributed to the various homes for each individual subscriber. More than 500 per cent or approximately 500 students are on this year's subscription list.

These students were signed up for a year's subscription during a well-organized circulation drive in September, right after school started. The weekly publication sells for $1.50 a year.

Subscriptions extend beyond the classroom. Past graduates and teachers find the paper an excellent way to keep in contact with Harding and its activities.

As many as 80 issues each week are mailed to recent graduates and to selected schools throughout the country with which Harding exchanges papers.

The exchange editor, Janet Cleveland, collects papers sent from other schools and files them for reference. Often new ideas are gained from these publications printed by school groups as far west as California. Herald copies are filed for reference, too, by Linda McArthur, librarian.

THE FIRST concern of the staff is news of coming events. Right now students are beginning to promote the senior class play which will be given March 29. Last week's issue ran a story on selection of the cast and also on senior committees named to assist in the production of the play.

Realizing that human interest is a big factor in maintaining reader interest, the editors carry many light columns such as jokes and polls with students' opinions of the day, sometimes serious, but more often humorous.

Sports hold the spotlight on Page 3 of the paper each week. Reports of all "Prexy" sports competition are recorded here by Marlo Barrett and his sports writers. Marlo writes his own column, "In the Sports Spot" which appears in each issue. Photography, when it appears, is done by Jim Merchant.

Each paper carries an editorial also. Co-editors take turns writing this in alternate weeks, one serving as editor while the other acts as feature editor during that week.

The cost of printing the newspaper is not defrayed by subscriptions alone. Like a daily, it depends largely on advertising for revenue. Max Carroll, the advertising manager, says approximately 30 per cent of the space in each issue is devoted to ads.

These range in size from two column inches to as high as eight inches. The minimum fee charged for an ad, based on the column inch, is $1. The average amount collected for ads each week totals $37.

Although the newspaper is printed elsewhere, students learn the mechanics of printing through class study. The departmentalization of a daily newspaper is dealt with in great detail, also.

Miss Foreman explains that although many of the pupils in her journalism classes do not follow writing as a career, they find the experience they gain in the course is valuable in whatever occupation they undertake.

Through their study students feel they are more qualified to handle publicity for clubs of which they may be members, and to put out small newspapers for churches and other groups.

THEY BECOME more conscientious and critical readers of newspapers, too, through their study of the criteria for good news, the analysis of headlines, features and column writing.

Like the reporters on a daily newspaper, Herald staff members at Harding are made fully aware of their responsibility in printing the news accurately. They know the paper is a spokesman for the school.

Because they are trained to accept responsibility and to carry it out effectively, Miss Foreman allows her students comparative freedom in planning each issue and producing the finished product ready for printing. Pride in a job well done accompanies each issue.

Student Nurse Awarded Cap at South Bend, Ind. Miss Edith Mohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mohn of 274 Edwards St., received her cap in exercises of the Memorial Hospital School of Nursing of South Bend, Ind., Friday. She was one of 10 students who earned scholastic honors during her preclinical period. The ceremony marks the completion of the first six months in the school of nursing.

A reception for over 500 persons, friends of the students, followed the ceremony. Thirty-nine students from Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin received their caps.

Kindergarten Meetings Scheduled at 3 Schools

Two city school officials will meet with parents of pre-school children this week at the Mark Street, Oakland and Vernon schools to explain the proposed summer kindergarten program.

Meetings are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Mark Street, and 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Oakland and Vernon. Miss Philomen Gregg, elementary supervisor, will attend meetings at Mark Street and Vernon. Cecil Gabler, assistant to the superintendent, will attend the Oakland meeting.

Former Local Students Play In Orchestra

Three former Harding High School orchestra members are now members of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra.

They are Stephen Lacey, a member of the faculty of Capital University Conservatory of Music in Columbus; Mrs. Alexander Turco, the former Miss Wilma Goebel, who is a member of the Harding High School faculty, and John Barnhart, a sophomore majoring in music at Ohio State University.

Mr. Lacey plays cello in the orchestra. He is the son of Mrs. John Lacey, formerly of Marion. He also is a member of the faculty string quartet at Capital.

Mrs. Turco is a member of the violin section. The daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Paul J. Goebel, she was a February graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music. She and her husband are residing with her parents here.

Mr. Barnhart, a string bass player, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnhart of Denmark, O.

Harding Band and Orchestra Give First Concert of Season

A crowd of nearly 800 music enthusiasts attended the Harding band and orchestra concert under the direction of Homer Huffman Sunday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The 90-piece concert band gave a lively performance, marked with numbers of a wide variety. Each section seemed well balanced, with the clarinets doing an especially commendable job in leading the other sections.

"The Thunderer" by Sousa brought out the color of the brass section and "Bubbling Brass" by Eisch literally "bubbled" with rhythm as it was interpreted by a cornet trio composed of Gary Dix, Neal Williams and Nancy Boger, with band accompaniment as background.

Six of the band selections were under the direction of Mr. Huffman and two were under the baton of George Lane, assistant concert band director.

The orchestra proved its position as a musical organization in the school by handling well the difficult numbers found on the program.

The 63-piece ensemble did an exceptional job in the presentation of "Andalucia Suite," Lecuna-Jenkins. The number, of Spanish derivation, was light and melodic.

Because children are usually so much more imaginative than adults, their interpretations are brilliant, bright and gay—humorous, yet indicative of creative ability, art critics feel.

Harding Class Will Give 'Arsenic and Old Lace'

"Arsenic and Old Lace," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the senior class of Harding High School in the auditorium March 29.

A cast of 15, directed by Robert Webb, will unravel the tale of two charming old ladies who fill their cellar with "the remains of social-ly and religiously acceptable roomers."

Cast members are: Sandy Jenkins, Jim Lighner, Dixie Geddis, Heidi Weinbaum, Jack Kerr, Charles Balthaser Wallace Brown, John Guthrie, Bruce Roberts, Gary Dix, Frank Castanien, Bob Bagley, Max Carroll, Larry Henry and David Powers.

Student directors for the production will be Sandy Coffae and Brenda Blake. Prompters are Bob Hall and Sondra Coon.

ATTEND READING FORUM Mrs. Margaret Eicher, Mrs. Goldie McLain, Miss Violet McBride and Miss Reta VanMeter attended the 10th annual reading conference and forum on visual problems in schools March 1-3 at the Hotel Statler in Cleveland.

WILL COUNSEL STUDENTS Paul Manuel, assistant director of admissions at Miami University, will visit Harding High School Tuesday for counseling sessions with students who plan to enter college.

Book Corner

"Saint Dominic and the Rosary" by Catherine Beebe is the book selected for review this week. It is for boys and girls 10-13 years of age.

This is a biography of Saint Dominic, founder of the order of Friars which bears his name. Like his contemporary, Saint Francis of Assisi, Saint Dominic and his followers wandered about the country converting people to Christianity.

His preaching career was one of great achievement. The Dominican Order today, seven centuries later, is a living memorial to the sanctity of its founder.

The author, Catherine Beebe, and Robb Beebe, her artist-illustrator husband, are well-known names in the field of juvenile literature.

This book will be of special interest to Catholic readers. It is available in the Boys and Girls Department of the Carnegie Public Library.

Kingwood Shows Art Work of School Pupils

Local educators are invited to view art work from Mansfield schools which will be on display at Kingwood Center in Mansfield during the second annual School Art Exhibit, March 3-22.

The creative talent of all age levels in the Mansfield Public Schools will be represented in this show which last year was visited by approximately 11,000 students and teachers.

Because children are usually so much more imaginative than adults, their interpretations are brilliant, bright and gay—humorous, yet indicative of creative ability, art critics feel.

School groups outside the Mansfield area are invited to take advantage of this unusual educational exhibit staged by the school art teachers of Mansfield, but advance arrangements must be made with Kingwood Center. The show will be open Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.; Sundays 2 to 6 p.m.

Grade Cards Will Be Distributed Wednesday

Grade cards will be distributed to all children throughout the Marion public school system on Wednesday.

A bulletin concerning science curriculums at elementary, junior and senior high levels will be sent home with students at that time.

4-H Club work is a community affair... widening out across the nation for the betterment of all. Those who know how much 4-H means to our local boys and girls look to America's future with confidence, for these capable young people uphold the highest ideals of character and good citizenship. During 4-H Club Week, March 3-9, we commend all 4-H Club members for their accomplishments and adherence to the principles that have made our country strong.

2 Suffer Injuries In Crash on 30-N

BUCYRUS—Minor injuries were sustained in the single weekend accident investigated by Bucyrus patrolmen. It occurred on Route 30-N six miles east of Bucyrus at 10:05 p.m. Saturday.

The westbound car driven by Paul D. Whaley, 26, of Bucyrus, went out of control and swerved into the path of an eastbound auto driven by John A. Brown, 25, of Crestline, the report indicated.

Extensive damage was done to both autos. Patricia Brown, 25, of Crestline, received bruised legs, and Whaley suffered a laceration over the eye and bruised knees. Neither was treated, patrolmen said.

Whaley was cited to appear before Mayor J. L. Sullivan of Bucyrus to answer a charge of reckless operation.

Motorist Is Arrested In Delaware Area Crash

DELAWARE — No injuries were sustained in the single accident investigated over the weekend by patrolmen of the Delaware post. A southbound car driven by Lewis A. Dalton, 61, of Westerville, was attempting a left turn off Route 23 at the Delaware-Franklin County line when it struck the right side of a car driven by Carl G. Karsten, 37, of Delaware, southbound in the inside lane of four traffic lanes.

Patrolmen said the mishap occurred at 3:15 p.m. Saturday. Minor damage was done to both autos and Dalton was arrested on a charge of changing lanes without caution. He will appear in Delaware Municipal Court Tuesday.

Detective's Son Learns Handcuffs Aren't Toys

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Robert Lee Gunnoe Jr., 4-year-old son of a Charleston detective, "footcuffed" himself by locking his father's handcuffs around his ankles.

Gunnoe decided the case could wait until he got through work so young Robert hobbled around all day, unable to put on his pants.

"He was certainly happy when I unlocked the cuffs," said Gunnoe. "But he doesn't try that again."

Newcomer Is Outcast Among Fellow Monkeys

JACKSONVILLE Fla. — The newest resident of the Jacksonville zoo is a social outcast.

First hint that something might be lacking in his personality came when the owner sold the spider monkey to the zoo.

But when he was put on an island with about 30 others of his kind, the hint became concrete action — the others threw him into the moat.

Zoo workers fished him out and put him back on the island. The other monkeys threw him into the moat again.

Supt. Gus Bastford put the monkey in a cage by himself.

Rickey Will Speak For Church Rally

Methodists from Marion and the county will be among an expected 4,000 attending an Ohio area evangelistic rally Tuesday in Columbus. The place will be the Veterans Memorial Building on W. Broad St.

Featured address in the morning will be by Branch Rickey, recognized as an outstanding Methodist layman and a leader in organized baseball. He is a trustee of Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. Bishop Hazen G. Werner, head of the area, will preside for the opening session at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon, Mayor H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City, Mo., will be the speaker.

A panel led by Rev. J. Otis Young, director of the Ohio Methodist Evangelistic Concern and administrative assistant to the bishop, will present the "practical phase of the evangelistic endeavor."

Bishop Werner assisted by the 19 district superintendents and a lay representative from each district will lead the assembly in a closing ceremony of consecration and dedication. The lay leader from Lima District, which includes Marion, is Ohio Senator J. E. Simpson of Forest.

Men Make Opinions

Now that the whirlwind over a proposed visit of Marshal Tito has blown itself out, leaving the wreckage of a good idea to mark the spot, there is time for calmer minds than those which blew it up to think about personal diplomacy.

Men make opinions, not countries. Individuals make the policies of governments, not parties. Although no one but an absolute despot has absolute authority, strong personalities guide governments as drivers guide automobiles.

This is the basis for personal diplomacy. It is the basis for President Eisenhower's confidence that in his second term he can reach a meeting of minds with many individuals responsible for policy in other nations.

The attitude in which King Saud returned to the Middle East demonstrates the possibilities of the kind of personal diplomacy President Eisenhower has in mind. Since his return, King Saud has cleared the minds of other strong personalities in the Arab bloc of many suspicions about the United States. They are willing to take the word of one of their own number for what he learned on his visit to Washington from the one man responsible for foreign policy.

Guy Mollet, premier of France, Prime Minister Macmillan of Great Britain, the prime minister of India, perhaps Marshal Zhukov of the Soviet Union, leaders of the West German Federal Republic — these are the kinds of men who have it within their power to reach personal understandings with President Eisenhower and make recommendations when they return home.

The United States has nothing to hide, no need to practice duplicity. But only President Eisenhower, speaking from the strength of his election mandate, can give the heads of other governments the personal assurance they need.

This is for precisely the same reason that the top man in an organization is the one who ultimately must bear responsibility for major decisions. His subordinates can speak for his point of view but they cannot speak for him.

When the President's critics realize he has taken up personal diplomacy as the alternative to the routine diplomacy of ambassadors, ministers and the endless debates in the United Nations, there will be more whirlwinds like the one that wrecked the Tito visit.

Perhaps the good idea can be nailed down firmly enough in advance before the next whirlwind strikes to keep it from being wrecked.

Open Door in China

Newspaper people who are heating the State Department to a pulp over its starchy policy on Red China seem to have figured out all the answers but one:

What will they do if they finally get permission to travel at will inside Red China in pursuit of their own business and businessmen in general demand permission to do the same thing?

The State Department has made no special ruling against the press. It feels that other Americans who would give their eye teeth to go in and out of Red China at will should not do this until the United States is ready to resume normal diplomatic relations with a country with which it is still technically in a state of war.

Although newspaper people think it would be much better if they could go inside Red China to report the news, they must be aware that many other groups feel the same way. If the bars were let down for newspaper people, they would have to be let down for everybody, which might be a good idea.

But if that meant recognizing Red China diplomatically, newspaper people who question the wisdom of doing that would have nothing to stand on if they had insisted on their right to go in and out of Red China at will. They cannot have it both ways.

Deflating Inflation

Inflation has been elected as the dirty word of the year. But there is another side of inflation that is rarely mentioned — an admirable side.

No one thinks of the admirable side when a price rise wipes out buying power that cannot be changed. But over the long pull, buying power in the United States has more than kept pace with prices.

Take the price of an automobile, for example — like that fondly-remembered car which may have cost less than $1,000 in 1939. It took 123 days to earn the money to buy it. Today's far more desirable beauty with its eye-popping delivered price that includes extras which had not been invented in 1939 can be bought with 112 days' work at hourly rates for a 40 hour week.

A refrigerator can be bought for half as many days' work. Even a haircut, which many men regard as a luxury, can be paid for with a few less minutes' work than was required in 1939. Although these relationships are not true for everybody, because not everybody is paid an hourly rate, they are useful as indexes of what might be called proportionate inflation; i.e., inflation in which buying power rises more rapidly than prices.

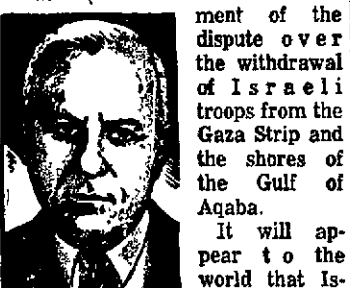

It is disproportionate inflation that is to be feared — the kind in which prices rise so fast that buying power is wiped out. The United States is not having that kind of inflation.

Patience Vindicated

By David Lawrence

Israel's Withdrawal Triumph for U.S. Policy

Patience—the virtue that in international crises is so necessary to the success of a skillful diplomacy—has vindicated itself in the settlement of the dispute over the withdrawal of Israeli troops from the Gaza Strip and the shores of the Gulf of Aqaba.

It will appear to the world that Israel bowed to the desires of the United Nations. But actually Israel decided to withdraw the U.N. request for withdrawal of Israeli troops primarily because the United States stepped into the picture and gave some strong commitments that have enabled Israel to take the course she really wanted to take but feared would be in vain.

These commitments could turn out to be of no avail if Egypt disregards her pledges to the United Nations to keep the Suez Canal open to all ships. But then it would be the influence of the United States which would be brought to bear inside the U.N. to secure compliance by Egypt.

The "Pressure" would then be applied the other way. It would mean that Israel would not stand alone at the bar of the U.N. simply pleading for justice.

What Israel has gained through her protracted negotiation is an understanding friend at Washington.

ISRAEL IS GIVING UP her military advantage in the territory she occupied as a result of her march last October but is getting what she considers to be a guarantee against recurrent attacks by Egyptian forces.

The question of who was the first aggressor in the long series of incidents that have arisen in the last few years between Egypt and Israel is academic now. A new era has begun.

Israel will have withdrawn her troops just as did France and Britain. On balance, the new situation, though developed through moments of great anxiety and tension, is healthier today than it was in the days when raids on Israeli territory were going on and there was concurrently an adamant refusal to let Israeli ships through the Suez Canal.

What does Egypt get out of it? A chance to rebuild relations with France and Britain and particularly with this country, where trade relationships and economic ties must be reconstructed.

It was more than a coincidence that the French premier, Guy Mollet, was in Washington during the last several days while a compromise was being worked out with the representatives of the Israeli government.

Whatever the implications of the terms of the agreement, the fact now is that both the United States and France stand back of them—ready to lend their influence in the United Nations in seeing that the grievances of which Israel complained are cured and that an era of real peace is ushered in with reference to the operations of the Suez Canal.

Bitterness will not vanish overnight, and deep-seated hatreds which have produced friction in the Middle East will not disappear right away. But the outlook now is for measures to build constructively rather than those which bring a gradual deterioration of the foundations of peace.

The Arab countries will soon be able to sell all their oil again. The Soviet schemes for muddying the waters will have less chance of succeeding now than if the Middle East had remained in turmoil.

It has been a painful and at times, frustrating series of conferences between the Israeli representatives and those of the United States government, largely because mischievous politicians were constantly trying to picture the United States as having taken sides against Israel and in favor of the Arab point of view.

When President Eisenhower said in his television speech there was no choice but to continue to exert "pressure" on Israel for a settlement through the United Nations, this was widely interpreted as a threat of "sanctions" by this country against Israel.

AS A MATTER of fact, there was no time when the United States wanted to propose sanctions to the U.N. The hope was that, through continuous negotiation, the Israelis would be satisfied that they had everything to gain and very little to lose by trusting themselves to the assurances given by the United States in its Feb. 11 memorandum to Israel.

It was fortunate that a man of the skill of Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban and someone with the standing that Mrs. Golda Meir, the foreign minister, has in Israel, were in Washington this week to negotiate with Secretary Dulles.

They came to understand the limits to which America could go and the importance, therefore, of achieving first of all an early withdrawal of Israeli troops.

For such withdrawals will symbolize the renunciation of the use of force—a cardinal principle in American foreign policy today.

Now if Egypt will put her faith in American disinterestedness and fairness and if the Senate will expedite the passage of the Eisenhower Doctrine resolution without further quibbling and without picayunish faultfinding, the cause of peace will have been immeasurably advanced and real progress made in the world toward prevention of another global war.

Rocked 'n' Rolled

By TRUMAN TWILL

The New York City police force, which quelled the uprising, and the Paramount Theater, which instigated it, are putting things back together after last weekend's rock 'n' roll presentation starring Alan Freed.

Meanwhile, millions of us who are struggling to comprehend what goes on in this field of diversion have been able to grasp one fact of solid importance.

Whatever goes on is not accidental. It is planned that way, and it is profitable. There may have been a time when the exploiters of the rock 'n' roll craze did not know what they had by the tail. They know it now.

The Paramount broke all house records with its Friday-Saturday attendance. Mr. Freed, who claims he invented the phrase "rock 'n' roll," has proved what needed no proving — that he has struck gold in the same vein of profit-making ore mined successfully by Elvis Presley and his managers.

The recording companies and the hard-headed people who calculate the pulling power of entertainers in the competitive business of selling records and merchandise know what they are doing.

It is as though the Pied Piper of Hamelin, who also led a following for a particular "beat" on the pipes in the 13th century, had been turned into a tangible asset after leading the children into the mountain. It is noteworthy, historically, that the Pied Piper may not have destroyed the kids but led them across, not into, the mountain, to start a new colony of Westphalians in Transylvania.

The potentialities of driving human beings zany with music should not be underestimated. Some years ago, a moody number called "Gloom Sunday" had to be self-destructive among listeners.

Where it has been made known in advance that a mid-20th-century Pied Piper (rock 'n' roll division) is going to perform, the police must be prepared for a bruising experience with mob hysteria. The thing has become so uncontrollable that many communities have refused to expose themselves to trouble; they refuse permission for the performance.

It is so zany that even the wearing of the clothing favored by many of the male rockers 'n' rollers has had to be barred in many schools, because the getup alone proves disturbing.

What is behind this kind of behavior is a mystery for psychiatrists, philosophers, sociologists and perhaps musicians. But there is no mystery about who is behind rock 'n' roll. It is a tremendously profitable commercial property.

If a couple hundred New York City policemen who had a riot on their hands last weekend wonder how they got mixed up in it, they are wondering in behalf of millions of us who finally have grasped the central fact — that rock 'n' roll is planned that way.

Dilemma

Partisanship in Senate Hinders Ike

By Jay G. Hayden

WASHINGTON
An ominous feature of Congressional response to President Eisenhower's request for advance authority to deal with problems in the Middle East, is an unprecedented dispersion of partisan leadership as concerns foreign policy, both Democratic and Republican.

The most important single cause of this condition was the simultaneous retirement of Sen. Walter George of Georgia and Rep. James P. Richards of South Carolina, after long service as chairmen respectively of the Senate foreign relations and House foreign affairs committees.

George's successor is Sen. Theodore Green of Rhode Island, who at 89 is the oldest man ever to serve in the Senate. And the new House chairman is Rep. Thomas S. Gordon of Chicago, little known among colleagues from even his own state until he was elevated by rule of seniority to preside over the foreign affairs committee.

The relative ease with which the Middle East resolution moved to House adoption in January clearly was due to vigorous support of it by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. And it may be a good omen for the future, so far as the House is concerned, that chairman Gordon remained, as always, a faithful follower of the speaker.

manSHIP, the committee on Armed Services is headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, a mere 60 years old but chairman of his committee for many years and outquanking in over-all Senate seniority everybody except Sen. Carl Hayden (D., Ariz.).

Possibly due to the two-committee complication, the Senate majority leader, Lyndon Johnson (D., Tex.), more and more has appeared as the Senate Democratic spokesman on the Middle East situation, instanced by his statement following the meeting of senators with Secretary of State Dulles.

There is a growing impression that aged Senator Green is so completely in Senator Johnson's pocket as the House foreign affairs chairman, Representative Gordon, is in the pocket of Speaker Rayburn.

In any event it seems certain that these two distinguished and highly competent Texans are calling the Democratic party's congressional signals to a degree unexampled by any like congressional leaders from a single state in all congressional history.

THERE ARE OTHER complications due to the peculiar Senate committee rankings.

Next below Chairman Green of the Foreign Relations committee is Fulbright of Arkansas, now serving his third six-year term in the Senate despite that he is only 51 years old.

Fulbright, incidentally, is a Rhodes Scholar graduate of Britain's Oxford University and a former president of Arkansas State University.

Quite obviously Fulbright has been pressing Senator Green hard, and piled up behind him are several other Democratic prima donnas — notably three ex-college professors, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Mike Mansfield of Montana and Wayne Morse of Oregon, the latter once dean of the law department of Oregon State University.

Republican membership on the Foreign Relations committee is featured by the presence of Senator Knowland who, armed with the added prestige of minority floor leadership of the Senate, is leading in opposition to any sort of punishment of Israel for failure to carry out orders issued by the United Nations.

Altogether President Eisenhower's lot as to dealing with Congress in matters of foreign affairs is not an easy one.

Blind Liberalism

By RAYMOND MOLEY

In an interesting novel, entitled "The Great Idea," published six years ago, Henry Hazlitt projected an imaginary crisis in the Soviet Russia of the future.

The theme of the book was that under pressure of necessity the rulers of that nation returned step by step to a capitalist economy.

Like the fanatics of the French Revolution who "abolished" God and found it necessary to create a substitute, the Communist found it necessary to reconstruct piece by piece the mechanism of a free market.

In the account of an interview with Nikita S. Khrushchev by Joseph Alsop recently published in various newspapers there is suggested at least a partial fulfillment of Hazlitt's prophecy.

According to Khrushchev, the recent plenum of the Central Committee of the Communist party authorized the abandonment of the immensely powerful but unsuccessful "industrial ministries" in Moscow and in the "republics." The control of industry will henceforth be decentralized, and "planning" will be vested in territorial departments.

THERE WILL still be a "Fosplan," which is the State Planning Commission. But it will only be concerned with examining and reviewing the activities of the territorial departments. This change is described by Khrushchev as "absolutely fundamental."

It is indeed, because it marks the abandonment of the central idea upon which the Soviet structure has stood since Lenin.

When Lenin came to the top of affairs, he had no plans. He said: "I do not know of any Socialist who has dealt with these problems... We need a plan at once to give the masses a shining, unimpeded example to work for."

The need was filled by an idea developed by a German, Walter Rathenau, who published his planning scheme in a pamphlet in 1914. It was called "Germany's Raw Material Management."

From it the British Labor Party got its working plans. It was, in effect, an implementation of Marxism, although it was designed to supply a war need.

In the United States it is said to have provided the basic idea for Barnard Baruch's War Industries Board in the First World War. From the experience gained under Baruch, Gen. Hugh Johnson created the NRA.

IT IS INTERESTING to note how the idea was seized by American radicals as a way to reconstruct our economy in the 1920's and early 1930's. A wealth of material on that subject has just been published in a book by Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., who is not only a professor but an active member of the A.D.A. and who was an adviser of Adlai Stevenson in his two campaigns.

The central figure in Mr. Schlesinger's account of the early New Deal is Rexford G. Tugwell. For a long time brooded over what he conceived to be the failure of the capitalist economy. He felt that what was needed in industry as well as in agriculture was "unity" and "co-ordination" on a national scale.

Mr. Schlesinger says that "This had been achieved once — by the War Industries Board, America's wartime socialism."

The war, said Mr. Tugwell enthusiastically, was an industrial engineer's Utopia... Only the Armistice prevented a great experiment in control of production, control of price, and control of consumption."

Since I was very close to the situation in those days, I can vouch for this interpretation of Mr. Tugwell's thinking.

In fact, his planning was worked out in great detail, and I may say that I always respected his utter sincerity while I disagreed with his ideas.

IT IS MOST interesting that, just as the Kremlin is discovering a road away from nearly 40 years of experimentation, our "liberals" are still chasing the concept of a centralized government with economic controls of various sorts.

It is not only interesting but almost frightening to see at the same time, that the Eisenhower administration is, under the name of the "New Republicanism," veering in the same direction.

Is there nothing that "liberals" can learn from the past?

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Want Ad Week

Gov. Collins of Florida has proclaimed a "Want Ad Week." Florida is a colorful, spectacular area producing some weird ideas but this one is not as funny as it may seem at first thought.

The want ad or "classified" rates close to the top as an institution playing a big part in American life.

It touches more people, more desires, more products and more levels of society than perhaps any other form of advertising.

WE NEVER THOUGHT much about this until the governor's proclamation but we hereby salute the classified advertisements as daily portrayals of success and failure, of hope and ambition, of sacrifice and gain and of opportunity and frustration.

Here are high drama and broad comedy. The want ads picture the American scene better than all the movies of Hollywood and all works of authors, artists and poets.

ACROSS THE CLASSIFIED pages move the rich and poor: the industrialist in search of a laborer, the jobless fellow looking for a break, the man who wants to buy a yacht and the woman who wants to sell a parakeet.

Here is the citizen anxious to sell a country estate hand-in-hand with the fellow who has nothing to give up but a furnished room.

Here life's story ranges from the "second-hand cradle wanted cheap" to the person who "must sacrifice cemetery lot;" and from the man who desires an eight-cylinder limousine to the one who is in the market for a used pair of roller skates "at bargain."

THE STORIES BEHIND the want ads in a single week make Alexander Dumas seem a bushier over his life span. Not even Shakespeare covered more ground per column.

You can find more mystery, romance and action in one day of classifieds than all the TV stations can think up in 10 years.

The "classifieds" are a peek into the home, a key to economic trends, a first aid to anybody who has lost his Elk's tooth or wants to buy a chinchilla farm, rent a dress suit or locate a specialist to remove warts.

They give you a cross section of American life and introduce you to everybody from the man in quest of a skyscraper to the lad who is after a saxophone, an old stove, a used harp, a stuffed sailfish or an ocelot.

Through them you can find a clerk, a tree surgeon, a Siamese twin, a folding bed, a long lost uncle, a good flea powder or a chance to get ahead in the banking business.

THEN THERE'S the "whodunit" behind the husband's ad, "My wife having left my bed and board," to the caustic little woman's reply, "This is to announce that James Blank never owned a bed and I boarded him all our married life."

GOV. COLLINS, we give you a 21-gun salute and think a Want Ad Week a swell idea. Classified pages, we love you. And when we want truly great stories we go to you.

Miami papers are conducting a drive against vice and getting results.

John Jacob Astor, found by the courts to be responsible for two wives, wants a court to help him straighten out the involvement this gets him into in the matter of income taxes. It seems they can't be charged off as losses by storm. (That's the trouble with the income tax department, there's no love interest.)

A Pearl River high school has a TV camera in the study hall so the principal can watch a screen in his office and see that the kids keep their minds on their work. As an old song might go, "School days, school days, dear old video school days; reading and other things educating, studied while getting a TV rating."

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Although passengers aboard the passenger ship Laconia, sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast, escaped with their lives, a Chicago woman died as a result of exposure in an open boat following the rescue.

Eleven Coast Guardsmen were drowned off the coast of Norfolk, Va., in the midst of a rescue attempt from a mountainous wave capsize their boat. They had been called out by a distress signal from the Standard Oil tanker, Louisiana, and were attempting to rescue the crew of the floundering vessel.

20 YEARS AGO — A 19-year-old Marengo youth, accused of breaking out of the city jail, was captured by police following a chase which ended in the C. and O. Railroad yards near the Farm Bureau office on Park Blvd.

A fall from a second story window in an Ohio State University fraternity house killed a Mount Vernon youth and injured another youth. Fellow students said the boys plunged through a screened window during a friendly scuffle.

City Council took definite steps to prepare its case "a fight for a reduction in water rates. A special meeting, an ordinance was adopted authorizing Service Director John V. Ruth to employ E. W. Wood, Marion certified public accountant, to make an audit of the books and capital structure of the Marion Water Co.

As Washington, D. C., youngster became so avid in his baseball interest that he hitchhiked to Orlando, Fla., to observe the training of the Washington Senators. The missing 10-year-old was returned safely to his parents.

10 YEARS AGO — A fire caused by an over-heated furnace did $600 damage to an apartment house owned by Mrs. Mary Dixon at 259 Pearl St. The blaze started in the ceiling of the downstairs apartment and spread through partitions to the attic.

Six county schools were closed when high winds causing snow to drift across roads, made them impassible.

A delegation of 25 Marion County teachers attended public hearings of the Ohio Senate educational committee in Columbus to urge passage of legislation for additional state funds for schools.

Doors Not Closed, Students Told

Jobs Open to Negroes, Cincinnati Study Finds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negroes in Cincinnati apparently have a good chance in business, industry or the professions—if they'll knuckle down with time and effort to prepare themselves in school.

That's the substance of a report to be put before school principals, counselors and intergroup agency representatives today.

A four-man group of researchers representing the school-community committee on intergroup relations collected data in interviews with Cincinnati Negroes who gained prominence in their jobs.

"A lot of Negro children figure that it's just wasted effort to learn a skill or trade because prejudice will bar the door to them," says Wendell H. Pierce, assistant superintendent of schools.

"It will come as a surprise to them and to a lot of Negro and white adults to learn how much opportunity there really is."

"With the shortage of skilled labor, employers simply aren't going to pass up qualified Negroes," he said. "It's just a question of economics."

THE IDEA OF the project is to seek means of getting these success stories across to children. That's the purpose of today's meeting.

Some of those interviewed include

Tom Jones, Central High School graduate, who went on to win football and track honors at Miami University, and is now Constable of Juvenile Court. He said he "had many days of doubt" about the future when in school, but "I learned that if you plan for no future, there is none. So I decided to take advantage of every opportunity to make good. To do so, I had to make many sacrifices—my play time became work time."

Mrs. Alice Lewis said a high school teacher told her she might as well not waste her time taking a secretarial course because a Negro couldn't get a job. But she took it anyway, and after advance training held several jobs. She's now secretary to Dr. Althea

Beery, supervisor of elementary education.

W. L. MANGRUM, partner with an architectural firm who was the second Negro in Ohio to become a registered architect. He has designed a six million dollar housing project in Washington, D. C., and helped design the Cincinnati waterworks now being built. He said, "More Negro youngsters need to be brought into contact with professional men who can encourage them and steer them along the right training path."

The project started last December when the President's Committee on Government Contracts, concerned about manpower shortages, picked Cincinnati, Chicago and Detroit as pilot cities to see how to salvage manpower now going to waste for lack of training.

Cincinnati tackled the problem through schools, Chicago through industry and Detroit through labor unions.

Pierce said, "This will be a continuing project, and will develop as we go along. At present we're concentrating on Negroes, but eventually we hope to include Southern mountain whites in the success story program, too."

Couple Wed Fifty Years

Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Wertman

Open house Sunday afternoon and evening in their home at Harpster will mark the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Earl O. Wertman. Friends of the couple will be received between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock and the evening hours from 4 to 6 have been reserved for the family and relatives. As is their custom the couple will attend the morning services in the Primitive Baptist Church of which they are lifelong members.

Miss Mab Mouser, the bride of 50 years ago, became Mrs. Wertman in a ceremony read in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David D. Mouser, of northeast of Little Sandusky on March 6, 1907. Officiating was the late Elder Levi Hite of the Primitive Baptist Church.

The celebrants were natives of Pitt Township and have always lived in that community. Mr. Wertman's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Z. Wertman. Prior to moving to Harpster in 1910, they made their home on a farm Mr. Wertman was with the Benton hardware store in Harpster for seven years and later was engaged in the automobile business. For the last 20 years he has been in the plumbing and repair work for himself.

They have two children, Mrs. George Britton of Westlake and Donald D. Wertman of Lake-wood, and two grandchildren. Mrs. Wertman has a brother, Max Mouser of Upper Sandusky and a sister, Mrs. Bess Wickham of Dearborn, Mich. Mr. Wertman has two brothers, Ralph Wertman of Trimora, Va., and Charles Wertman of Marion.

A 50-year Mason, Mr. Wertman is a member of Warpole Lodge No. 176 at Upper Sandusky and Wyandot Lodge No. 110, IOOF. He served as secretary of the latter lodge for 12 years. They have been active in the PTA and other civic groups of the community and Mr. Wertman served as mayor of the village for five years and as president of the council for 12 years.

Vote Is Set on Proposal To End Eaton's Cleveland Plant Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—Members of the Mechanics Educational Society of America, Local 21, vote Tuesday on a proposal to settle a strike that has idled 1,600 at the axle division of Eaton Mfg. Co. here.

The question will go before the membership with a recommendation from the union's 33-member strike committee that it be rejected.

The committee's recommendation, decided at a meeting Saturday, brought a sharp statement from the company Sunday night. The company said the committee "by repudiating an agreement reached last Monday, must bear the full responsibility for the continuation of the illegal strike."

The company said the agreement reached a week ago with union representatives stipulated that the proposal to settle the strike be recommended to the "Crusaders" was the name chosen by the newly organized young adults class of Forest Lawn Presbyterian Sunday School Tuesday night in the Community House and William Lore was elected president. Other officers include George Rutherford, vice president, Mrs. George Rutherford, secretary and Mrs. Dale Mauer, treasurer. Mrs. Dale Weston is the teacher.

Devotions were by Mrs. Rutherford. During business session, by-laws were adopted and committees were appointed. Mrs. Charles Metz directed entertainment and contests were won by Mrs. Weston, Clark Clendennan, Mrs. Paul White and Mrs. Richard Seckel. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Lore. The next meeting of the class will be March 25 and new members will be welcomed.

When the Morral Methodist Lotus Class met Wednesday night, Mrs. Maxine Cochran was hostess. Mrs. Beulah McWhorter presided for business and Scripture and prayer were by Mrs. Evelyn Campbell.

Program leader was Mrs. Maxine Borland who gave a talk on, "Love for Fellowmen." Mrs. Evelyn Thacker directed entertainment and prizes were won by Mrs. Mae Massie and Mrs. Mildred Williams. A 10-minute announcement was made of a bake sale set for March 16 at the John Deere store in Upper Sandusky. Plans were discussed for entertaining husbands of the members March 30. Mrs. Pat Williams and Mrs. Sarah Williams were guests. Hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. Mildred Burley.

Mrs. Eugene Kimmel entertained the Ann Judson Mission Circle of the Prospect Baptist Church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Kimmel was in charge of the meeting. Devotions were led by Mrs. John Griffith, with her theme, "Teeth Side Down." Reports were given and a nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Wilbur Sivey, Mrs. Alvin Emberton and Mrs. George Thomas. Mrs. Thomas was in charge of a memorial service for Mrs. Angeline Mohr. Mrs. Daisy Anderson gave readings and the hostess served refreshments. Guests were Mrs. Maud Wilkins and Mrs. Clayton Peaslee.

One candidate was given the temple degree by the officers and degree staff, in charge of Mrs. Hazel Klingel, captain, when White Lily Temple No. 273, Pythian Sisters of Waldo, met Thursday night in the K. of P. hall. Mrs. Alice Chapman, most excellent chief, presided.

Plans were announced for a family night party to be held March 16 in the K. of P. hall. A potluck supper will be followed by entertainment. In charge will be Mrs. Thelma Watzel, Mrs. Betty Smith, Mrs. Erma Hickman, Mrs. Martha McFarland, Mrs. Janis Miley, Mrs. Hazel Klingel and Mrs. Dorothy Dutt.

Mrs. Hazel Reeh of near Waldo and Mrs. Laura Kraus of Marion were reported ill at home and Mrs. Vera Baker of Waldo was reported as a patient in Jane Case Hospital, Delaware.

A mystery box, provided by Mrs. Evelyn Miller, was won by Mrs. Joan Thomas. A miscellaneous shower was held for Mrs. Jean Chapman, the former Miss Jean Dixon. In charge of refreshments were Mrs. Watzel and Mrs. Irene Miley. At the next meeting, March 14, entertainment and refreshments will be in charge of Mrs. Luella Klingel and Mrs. Mildred Fetter. Degree staff practice will follow the meeting.

Calvary Church Rites
Enter First Full Week

The first full week of special services at Calvary EUB Church began Sunday with the pastor, Rev. C. R. Wendell, giving the morning message and the guest preacher, Rev. Walter Adams of Shelby, speaking in the evening.

Children's meetings were to start this afternoon and continue each day after school at 3:45 in the Junior Room. Miss Gertrude Cooper of Findlay is the song evangelist and children's worker.

In the morning, Rev. Wendell spoke on, "A Fourfold Fullness" and Miss Cooper sang, "How Great Art Thou." Prayer at the evening service was by Rev. Charles Adams, son of the Calvary evangelist and pastor of the Webster Cloverdale EUB Church. The solo by Miss Cooper, illustrated by a pictured scene on felt background and illuminated by special lighting, was "The Peace That Jesus, My Savior, Hath Given." Theme of the sermon was, "The Reality of Future Punishment."

600 Attend Guild's
Mardi Gras Dance

Approximately 600 persons attended the Junior Service Guild Mardi Gras Dance at the Hy-Way Rollarena Saturday night.

Mrs. Howard Diehl and Mrs. Merritt Marshall, co-chairmen of the affair, reported today that the service group had netted at least $1,000 profit, the largest amount ever earned in a Guild-sponsored dance.

The Rollarena was a maze of decorations typifying the Mardi Gras for the event. The ceiling was covered with multi-colored balloons, pennants and serpentine.

Walls of the ballroom were adorned with theater masks, representative of both tragedy and comedy. Women in attendance were given Mardi Gras masks. Music for the occasion was provided by Sammy Hopkins and his orchestra from Columbus.

City Teachers Will Present Show Tonight

A cast of 50 city school faculty members will join in a humorous presentation, "The NoZark Jubilee," directed by Edward Miller, at 8 o'clock in the Harding auditorium tonight.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be Howard Quinn. Acting as comedians will be Harold Hazlett, Robert Webb, George Whitehead and Mr. Miller.

Featured talent will include selections by a chorus, solos, dancing, impersonations and marimba numbers.

During the intermission "Jubilee Salesmen Supreme" will be on hand to sell refreshments to the audience.

Proceeds of the show will go to the K. H. Marshall Student Loan Fund set up to offer financial assistance to students who graduate from Harding and enroll in college. The loan fund is administered by a faculty board at Harding.

Members of the men's chorus are Norman Fogt, William (Pete) Howison, Melvin Keeran, George Lane, Jesse Mendoza, Thomas Petrie, Ray Silver, Thomas Stolarczyk, Russell Dunlap, Gene Allison, John Beers, Richard Reese, Emil Lisak and Paul Wright.

Salesmen during the intermission will be Don Baggs, Melvin Bernow, Paul Bingham, James Frew, Miss Philomena Gregg, James Hill, Floyd Holacker, Miss Violet McBride and Miss Clara Alice Wilson.

Usherettes will be Mrs. Hazel Hinamon, Miss Mary Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Sult and Mrs. Betty Strickland.

Committees assisting in the production are:

Stage, Robert Beidler, Gene Winters, Dave Walker and Walter Wesley.

Make-up, Miss Selma Howard and Mrs. Barbara Smith.

Tickets, posters, programs, Darl

Gatchell, Marion Shank and Raymond Hoops.
Publicity, Mr. Fogt.
Assistant director of the show is Mr. Webb. Pianist will be James Andrews.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at the price of 50 cents for both children and adults.

State Foundation Funds Distributed

A total of $105,384 has been received by the Marion County school office for distribution to the county's school districts. The money is Marion's share of a total of $34,419,195 representing the first quarterly payments of state foundation funds.

The distribution is the second under a new law that provides for doling out money for the basis of teacher-classroom units. The total amount is $1,166,303 higher than the first distribution.

Marion County school districts will receive the following amounts: Caledonia, $11,321; Claridon, $11,281; Green Camp, $4,307; LaRue, $11,018; New Bloomington, $5,659; Pleasant, $19,714; Prospect, $20,226; Ridgedale, $11,835; Tully (Martel), $4,036; and Waldo, $5,487.

A total of $45,217,924 actually was distributed to school districts, according to R. M. Eymann, state superintendent of public instruction, but of that amount, $10,789,629 represents obligations of school districts which the state pays directly and money that will go into a trust account for buying school buses.

Honey for Hangovers

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Agriculture Experiment Station says that a tablespoon or two of honey will make a drunken person sober. The sugars in the honey cause a chemical breakdown in the alcohol in the system. The same treatment may be helpful in routing a hangover, the station reports.

City Sewers

Indiana Ave. and Forest Lawn Blvd. sewers.

CITY ENGINEER John V. Ruth said he was curious to know why the engineers had designed the Forest Lawn Blvd. relief sewer (from Indiana Ave. north to E. Center St.) for a shallow depth. Mr. Martin explained that it was to serve only as a relief sewer and would serve to relieve both the E. Center and E. Church St. sanitary sewers.

To further relieve the eastern section of the city, the survey report calls for extending the Indiana Ave. trunk sewer east to Kenmore Ave. and north on Kenmore to north of Center St.

Mr. Ruth said that because there may be some possibility this extension will never be built, he felt that Forest Lawn Blvd. sewer should be built larger and deeper. Mr. Martin said this would be possible but the sewer then should be redesigned as a trunk sewer rather than a relief sewer.

R. G. Haldeman, councilman-at-large, said that he felt "no responsibility for the inadequacies of future city councils" and felt the present council should try to follow the recommendations in the report.

Additional discussion disclosed that basements of commercial buildings erected at E. Center and Forest Lawn Blvd., such as the new Fahey Banking Co. drive-in branch to be started soon, would be too deep for existing sewers and thus would have no existing basement outlets unless the proposed relief sewer were made deeper.

OUTCOME OF the discussion was that the relief sewer will be made deeper from Church St. north to Center St. This will place it in line with and on the same grade as the section from Church St. south to Indiana Ave. Additional cost of lowering a one-block section of sewer will be about $1,000.

Mr. Martin pointed out that despite this change, the sewer still would be a relief sewer and it will not be possible to continue to add other connections to it indefinitely.

There also was a discussion of what method should be used to provide sanitary sewer connections for houses on Forest Lawn Blvd. north of E. Church St. after the new relief sewer is installed. No decision was reached on this point.

The houses presently are served by a sewer line which Browne and Associates advise is on too flat a grade and should be abandoned. Mr. Ruth favored continued use of the existing sewer and connection of it to the relief sewer.

THERE ALSO was a brief discussion with the county officials attending concerning their interest in the sewer improvements. Mr. Martin had pointed out that survey report calls for a long range program providing sewers large enough in the city so that extensions may be made outside the city.

Mr. Haldeman said that "We have now reached the point where we are going to have to eliminate short-range thinking and develop close cooperation between the city and county on this sewer program."

Mr. Bigelow added that if the proposed sewer improvements are to be successful, this cooperation is a "must."

Luther Mitchell, county commissioner, agreed, saying that housing developments presently outside the city should plan for the day they may be annexed to the city. He said he felt it is wasteful for such developments to install septic tanks, then later have to pay for a sanitary sewer. He said that the cost of the septic tanks installation would go a long way toward paying for the sanitary sewer extensions.

Howard McCurdy, another commissioner, said he, too, felt that now is the time for such housing developments to prepare for eventual annexation to the city.

Mr. Bigelow said that he believed that county sewer problems may be further aggravated by a bill he understands is now being studied by a committee of the state legislature in Columbus. This bill is designed to outlaw septic tanks under certain conditions, he noted.

DISCUSSION was held on who should employ the resident engineer for the sewer construction projects. Last Thursday, Mr. Bigelow recommended that the city employ the resident engineer and two sewer inspectors.

At the meeting Saturday, Wayne Kuhn, of Browne and Associates, pointed out that it made no difference to the engineering firm whether it or the city employs the resident engineer. He did explain the charges Browne and Associates would make if they employed him. These would be the salary and salary overhead plus 40 per cent, he said. Mr. Bigelow last Thursday noted these same figures from a letter to him and said the city could employ a resident engineer for $650 a month.

He said if employed by Browne and Associates under the proposed terms the cost would be some $1,100 a month. Mr. Kuhn explained that the "plus 40 per cent" figure was to cover social security payments, retirement system payments, group insurance and other fringe benefits provided by the company as an addition to the salaries it pays. He noted that the city also would have similar additional costs over and above salary of the engineer.

THE QUESTION also came up as to who is responsible to see that sewer construction projects are properly completed. Mr. Kuhn explained in detail the contract between his firm and the city. In brief, it gives Browne and Associates general supervision over the project but the city is ultimately responsible for correct construction of the sewers, he said.

He said that the resident engineer, whether employed by the city or the engineering firm, would be an agent of both the city and the engineers. Later, he added, in answer to a question by Mr. Haldeman, that the resident engineer would have some responsibility to see that the projects proceed according to schedule and that he would keep a record which would disclose the reasons for any delays that may crop up.

Third Ward Councilman Herman Rinehart asked if records of the resident engineer would be available to the city. Mr. Kuhn replied that they would be. He pointed out that the engineer will make daily reports to Browne and Associates and that Browne and Associates will in turn make a composite monthly report to the city.

Those attending the meeting included: James Jenkins, Second Ward; Mr. Rinehart, Third Ward; Ralph Williams, Fourth Ward; Emmett Osterholt, Sixth Ward; Mr. Haldeman; Mr. Ruth; Thomas Taylor, assistant city engineer; Mr. Bigelow; Mr. Martin; Mr. Kuhn; Mr. Mitchell; Mr. McCurdy; Clarence Keil, county commissioner, and Reed Ours, county engineer.

Fire Reports

FIRE CALLS (Saturday)

11:20 a.m., to the rear of 1060 Uncapher Ave. where sparks from a rubbish fire ignited leaves and grass. Firemen of the W. Center St. station answered the alarm and reported no loss.

3:02 p.m. to 738 Woodrow Ave., home of M. E. Mettler where a fire had been reported. W. Center St. and Central station firemen rushed to the scene and found the call, believed to have come from a child in the neighborhood, was a false alarm.

(Sunday)

1 a.m. to 1100 N. Main St., restaurant and tavern owned by Ross Morbitz, where patrons became alarmed by steam which had formed on the windows from the outside cold. Firemen in the township truck of the Mark St. station answered the alarm and found no fire.

1 a.m. to 190 Edwards St., home of Elmer E. Graham where an overheated furnace ignited floor boards on the first floor above it, causing $100 damage. Firemen of the W. Center and Central stations extinguished the blaze.

7:25 a.m. to the corner of Oak Grove and Uncapher Aves. where paper and leaves which had collected in a hollow tree caught fire, apparently from a discarded match. Firemen of the W. Center St. station extinguished the blaze and reported no loss. The lot was owned by the Marion City Board of Education.

1:05 p.m. to the rear of 124 Cayuga St. where a garage owned by Mrs. Marie Smith caught fire.

By Victor Riesel

There's a busy fellow in Pittsburgh who's been trimming others as often as he does his cuticles. So he has been able to parlay a job with the Common Laborers Union into a career which put 100 pair of shoes and 60 suits in his closet — a n d folding money in each of the pockets. Finally t h e federal closed in on him.

What troubled this Nick Strone was not the federal as much as the traumatic realism of not being able to match each pair of shoes with a suit, as you and I can do.

I raise the glowing image of Strone to personalize the new issue of the day and the newest of the nouveau riche — the big money unionists.

For that's what the Senate select committee hearings on racketeering are all about — the power of men who parlay unions into wealth which is all tied up in cash.

IF YOU'LL FORGIVE the expression, the hero of the current probe is Frank Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, horseman, sport and maker of city officials.

Brother Brewster is a heavy spender with whims like iron to which he catered — as did others. So it was inevitable that the U.S. Treasury Department should take a pleasurable view of such opulence.

The report is that on looking deeper into Mr. Brewster's generosity they found that it did not extend to sufficient contributions to the Internal Revenue Service. In fact, the Treasury Department figured that Brother Brewster had unwittingly or cynically underestimated his debt to society by several hundred thousand dollars.

This really didn't make Brother Brewster a second class citizen in the teamsters. There also apparently is quite a difference of opinion between Brewster's chief, Dave Beck, and the income tax people.

All of which you can find in the hands of the Senate probing committee if you look past some of the frills of the sessions which came under the heading of "Call Me Madam."

Now the story inside the Teamsters Brotherhood, a meaningful phrase at this moment, is that Brewster called together the leaders of the Western Conference of Teamsters — from the 11 states it covers — and explained his financial plight.

HE NEEDED FUNDS to repay those insistent Treasury people. Could the leaders dig into their pockets and lend him the money? Sure they could. But one fellow came up with an even warmer, more fraternal thought in this brotherhood of men.

Why not borrow the money from the union itself? So the loans were authorized. Now I'm not privy to the secret Treasury Department reports. But the senators are. They may soon reveal just how all this was handled.

Borrowing money from a union or lending its dues dollars for taverns and more gauche investments to prove that a house, even of labor, may not be a home, is a matter of taste.

But observe this — there is an enormous amount of money being made out of the leadership of some unions.

Just total all those thousands of dollars which were handled as private funds of the officials.

Just try to estimate what the income must have been for a man to fall behind several hundred thousand dollars in taxes.

That's the moral issue the AFL-CIO national leadership now faces as the Senate committee prepares to open similar hearings on the Operating Engineers and then on down the chain of command of the mob network.

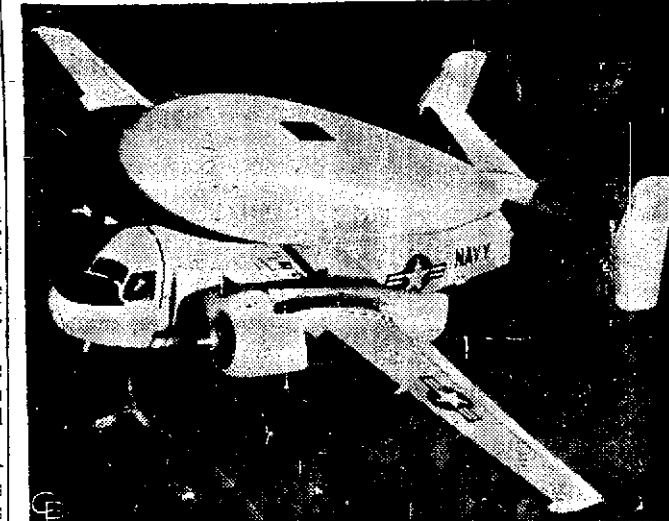

THIS ISSUE will lead to a bitter internal fight which may well split the newly merged AFL - CIO within the next six months.

Word is that AFL president George Meany is positively determined to treat the federation's biggest union, the 1,400,000 member teamsters, as he has the three small unions which will most likely be suspended next May.

He has said that he cannot treat the small outfits differently from the large ones even if it means expelling the teamsters. Otherwise there would be a double standard.

The warning to the small unions included a demand for the ouster of the national officers who tolerated unethical practices. That will be the word to the teamsters. Before the teamsters do that, they'll walk, not drive, to the nearest exit. This story has just begun.

Prisoner Seeks Release on Writ Of Habeas Corpus

A petition for his release on a writ of habeas corpus was filed Saturday in Common Pleas Court by Roy G. Durham, an inmate of the Marion Correctional Institution. A hearing on the petition has been set for 10:30 a.m. March 13, with an attorney from the state attorney general's office sitting in as counsel for the defendant, Lamoyne Green, superintendent of the local institution.

Durham, according to his petition, began serving a one-to-three year sentence for non-support on Feb. 22, 1954 in the Ohio Penitentiary. Subsequently he was paroled, on Feb. 18, 1955, and remained at liberty until July 2, 1955, when he was arrested by Wooster, O. police on an assault and battery charge.

The petition states that Durham was sentenced to 30 days in the Wayne County jail and fined $100 and costs. After serving the time he was returned to the penitentiary as a parole violator on Sept. 8, 1955. The petition alleges that the state pardon and parole board extended Durham's time of imprisonment to the maximum and beyond. He alleges, in his petition, that the law does not specifically allow such an extension of a maximum term and asks, in consequence, that he be freed.

Durham was transferred from Columbus to Marion Jan. 11, 1956.

Crash Kills Ohio Coed At Cornell, Companion

ROSCOE, N. Y. (AP)—Two Cornell University students, one a nephew of a state Supreme Court justice were killed Sunday when their auto and a tractor-trailer collided. Two other students were injured. Killed were Frank B. Reynolds, 23, of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., said by state police to be a nephew of Justice Walter B. Reynolds, and Miss Danielle F. Marnborough, 20, of Rocky River, Ohio. State police said the students were returning to the campus at Ithaca after attending a wedding on Long Island.

Engineers See Film On 'Nike' Missiles

The regular meeting of the Marion post of the Society of American Military Engineers was held Thursday night at the Marion Engineer Depot.

New officers for the year, headed by Col. J. Arthur Hamilton, were installed by the past president, Marvin L. Wilson.

Capt. David I. Bills, Corps of Engineers, Pittsburgh district office, was the speaker.

A film showing the firing of "Nike" guided missiles and how they can destroy hostile aircraft was shown.

Capt. Bills described the construction of the "Nike" bases around Cleveland. Forty-three members and guests were present. Next meeting of the Marion post will be held April 25.

District Traffic Reports

Four minor accidents were investigated in Marion County over the weekend by highway patrolmen of the local post. City police reported three minor accidents.

A truck driven by a Marion man, Edward H. Bales, 63, of 206 Sharp St., was involved in an accident which occurred on Route 30-S about three miles west of Marion at 9 a.m. Saturday, patrolmen said.

The westbound truck was making a left turn into a private drive as an eastbound vehicle driven by Henry Bowman, 65, of Streater, Ill. approached.

Patrolmen said the Bowman car swerved to the left and careened into a ditch to avoid striking the Bales truck. No physical contact occurred between the two vehicles. Moderate damage was done to the Bowman car.

A Cardington man was arrested on a charge of failure to yield the right of way and was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court at a later date after his auto was involved in an accident on Route 529 just west of the Morrow line in Marion County at 5:10 p.m. Saturday.

The auto, driven by Wilbur Schorr, 49, backed out of a private drive onto Route 529 into the side of a westbound car driven by Mack B. Price, 25, of Mount Gilead, patrolmen said.

Moderate damage was done to the Schorr auto and minor damage to the Price vehicle.

Marion St. on Route 23 in Waldo was the scene of an accident which occurred at 3:10 p.m. Sunday.

Patrolmen said a vehicle driven by Clarence A. Danklefsen, 42, of Bellevue, turned south onto Route 23 from Route 98 and struck the back end of a parked auto owned by Guy J. Brickingham, 61, of Cardington.

Moderate damage was done to both vehicles. Danklefsen was cited to appear in Marion Municipal Court at a later date on a charge of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle.

A fourth accident occurred at 4:30 p.m. Sunday about two miles west of Marion on Township Road 97-A when a car driven by Ralph R. Dounce, 23, of 175 1/2 E. Center St., Marion, failed to negotiate a curve and skidded into a stop sign, patrolmen said.

The car was traveling on Route 95 when it attempted to turn onto the township road and went out of control, the report indicated. The stop sign was broken off. Minor damage was done to the car.

Three City Accidents

Three minor no injury traffic accidents were reported today by Marion police.

A collision at 8:59 a.m. Saturday at W. Columbia St. and Blaine Ave. involved cars driven by W. C. Williams, 30, of 511 Olney Ave. and G. A. Shifflet, 28, of 4 Veterans Housing Units.

An accident on W. Center St. just west of Main St. at 2:48 a.m. today involved cars driven by Anthony Soletro, 26, of 1148 E. Center St. and Lloyd B. Garver, 31, of 771 Cheney Ave.

city caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Youth Escapes Injury

Michael Nicolosi, 15, of 384 Hane Ave., escaped injury about 12:21 a.m. Sunday when the car he was driving went off the road and snapped off a telephone pole. Sheriff's deputies said the mishap occurred where County Road 183 deadends on County Road 175 north of Marion. Nicolosi was southbound on 183 and apparently failed to stop soon enough to avoid crossing over 175 to crash into the pole.

Ohio Counts 10 Traffic Deaths For Weekend

Fire, Fall Claim Two Other Victims, Raise Fatality Total to 12

By The Associated Press
Twelve persons died accidentally in Ohio during the weekend—ten of them in traffic mishaps.

An Associated Press survey which began Friday at 6 p. m. and ended Sunday at midnight indicated that the two non-traffic fatalities were a 75-year-old man who burned to death in his bed and a 32-year-old man who fell 60 feet from a sand hopper.

The fatalities:

Friday night

Paul Garcia, 13, Woodville, hit by a truck on a rural road in western Sandusky County.

Saturday

Daniel P. Christmas, 33, Akron, thrown from his car after it crashed into a bridge railing in Akron.

Orville Smith, 32, Columbus, in a 60-foot fall from a sand hopper. Jesse R. Searson, 25, Grand Rapids, Mich., in a one-car accident on U.S. 30 south, about six miles west of Mansfield.

Ruth Dewey Noe, 57, Dayton, of injuries in a two-car collision in Dayton.

Sunday

Edgar E. Ragle, 32, Malta, when his car slid into a guard rail and then a bridge abutment on Ohio 77 about three miles south of Zanesville.

Paul E. Starkey, 20, Newark, when his car struck a utility pole on Ohio 79 a mile north of Hebron. Charles E. Colston, 24, Norwood, in a bus-car collision in east Cincinnati.

George Kist, 67, Cincinnati, when his car veered off Ohio 4 and struck a truck.

James F. Morris, 56, Cuyahoga Falls, of injuries received when his car sideswiped another vehicle and crashed into an abutment of the Talmadge Avenue overpass in Akron.

Mrs. Laura B. Vogel, 71, Crafton, Pa., when she fell from an auto in Woodfield.

John Toth, 74, Cleveland in a fire that burned his bed but did not spread to the rest of his home.

Death Claims Priest

Vorys Discloses 'Mystery' Flights Over Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), in a televised debate on President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution Sunday night indicated the United States is concerned about mysterious flights of unidentified planes over Middle East areas.

Vorys defended the Eisenhower resolution on "American Forum of the Air" in a debate with Rep. Zablocki, (D-Wis.) who said there is "no need" for the proposal.

Asked if there is any "imminent" danger of Communist aggression in the Middle East, Vorys replied there is no apparent danger from troop movements, but added:

"There's the matter of flyovers, and, since its rather mysterious, it's a serious matter."

Asked to elaborate on his statement, Vorys said: "Well, they're high up and local people have no way of identifying them. Certain planes have been coming over."

Columbus Man Faces Hearing in Boy's Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 23-year-old unemployed draftsman faces a preliminary hearing today in the death of the 4-year-old son of his common-law wife.

The boy, Gary Lee Cooper, son of Mrs. Irene Cooper, 38, died Friday. Charged with first degree manslaughter is Gordon (Tony) Mason, Columbus, who told police he had beaten the boy several times, including twice on Friday.

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County coroner, said the boy died of a blow to the abdomen.

Hearing Is Set At Columbus in Hit-Skip Fatal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Andrew Edwards, 27-year-old Columbus man, faces preliminary hearings today in the hit-skip traffic death of Mrs. Ella Galvin, 67, on Christmas Eve, 1955.

Columbus police, tipped off by an anonymous phone call, arrested Edwards at his home Saturday. He told police he knew he "hit something" the night of the accident and that the death was "bothered" him from time to time.

Police said evidence shows Mrs. Galvin was crossing at a downtown intersection against the traffic signal when she was struck. As a result, authorities said, Edwards cannot be charged with second degree manslaughter.

Sgt. Ted R. Thrall, chief traffic investigator, said Edwards will be charged with hit-skip driving, a charge that carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $200 fine.

Most hospitals have very little trouble getting nurses for work in the day," explained Mrs. Elizabeth Staats, director of nursing at the Bronx hospital, "but it's very difficult to get night nurses."

Twenty-nine of the 40 apartments have been reserved for night nurses, who will pay $35 monthly rent.

MacArthur Recovers

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur is reported in "perfect condition" after a month-long bout with a virus condition.

Maj Gen Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's top aide, said the retired five-star general had recovered from the virus condition that had bothered him since his 77th birthday Jan. 26.

Whitney said he and MacArthur, now board chairman of Remington Rand, had made an out-of-town trip Friday.

Kentuckian Is Fed Up With Vandals $11,064 Taken In Robbery in Perry County

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Vandals looking for "kicks" are liable to get one "right in the seat of the pants from a shotgun" if they pick on Harold Wheeler any more.

Wheeler said he wasn't overly concerned when somebody punctured his picture window in two places with 38 shot last December.

And he said he laughed it off when somebody placed stones under the wheels of his car so he couldn't move it.

But now, Wheeler says if "something isn't done" he's going to get out his 12-gauge shotgun and "be ready" the next time.

Sunday night somebody drove a car over his lawn, knocked down two maple trees and threw a stone through his picture window.

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Perry County authorities Sunday night were questioning three men believed involved in an $11,064 supermarket robbery here.

The three, John Rosebrough, 24, Denna Wayne Moore, 23, and Tommy Shope, 23, all of New Lexington, were arrested Saturday night. Their car contained the $11,064.

Police arrested the three men after spotting their car on U.S. 22, about five miles south of Zanesville.

Warren Donnelly, 63, manager of the supermarket, and Keith Reeves, 26, a store employee, identified the three as the men who robbed them.

ONU Athletic Head To Speak At Baker's Banquet Tuesday

Clyde A. Lamb, athletic director at Ohio Northern University at Ada, will speak at the Eber Baker Junior High School athletic banquet Tuesday. The banquet will be served in the school lunch room at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. Lamb has selected the topic "Boys I Have Known."

Mr. Lamb is well known in Marion. He has been in athletics and coaching for 34 years—the last 29 years at Ohio Northern. He is a graduate of Coe College of Cedar Rapids, Ia. and has a master's degree from Columbia University.

Mr. Lamb stated that he is proud of the long string of young men who have majored in the Physical Education Department at Ohio Northern. One hundred and twenty-five graduates are still active in athletics in the various high schools and colleges in Ohio.

W. A. (Pete) Howison, principal at Baker, and Marion Waits, Taft coach, are among the ONU graduates.

Donald Zeisler, Baker coach, will present the football and basketball awards. Trophies to be presented will be co-champion in football, league champions in basketball and junior high tournament champion. Individual trophies will be presented to the best lineman and best back in football and to the most valuable player in basketball.

Shelby To Meet Sandusky, Mansfield Faces Tiffin in District Openers Here

Spot in Regional at Toledo At Stake in Local Contests

District basketball pairings were made over the weekend in many locales across Ohio, as the elimination circuit to determine the entries for the state tournament continues.

Four teams will clash in Marion's Veterans Memorial Coliseum Friday in Class AA play, with Tiffin Columbian meeting Mansfield and Shelby locking horns with Sandusky.

In Toledo, class AA games will send Toledo Clay against Bowling Green, and Toledo Macomber against Toledo Scott.

Hacker Called Key for Reds' Flag Chances

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts says righthander Warren Hacker may be the big gun in the Cincinnati Redlegs' pennant aspirations.

"He looks like money in the bank to me," said Tebbetts. "He could put us over in this year's National League pennant race."

Hacker, 32, came to Cincinnati from Chicago's Cubs after a lackluster 3-13 record last season, but Tebbetts thinks he can regain his old form.

"I'm not going to bother trying to teach him to throw a new pitch," the manager said. "He throws one of the best sinkers in the game and he also owns a good knuckler. But I am anxious for him to acquire more motion. I'm sure it would help him."

Tebbetts thinks Hacker could prove another Brooks Lawrence, who last year won 13 in a row, then went on to take 19 games for the Reds.

Hacker's best year with the Cubs was 1952 when he won 15 games and lost nine, and finished with an earned run average of 2.58 — best among all National League starters.

But that was the last year he won more games than he lost, and last year he posted a 4.66 earned run average.

Manager Tebbetts plans to play the first of three games between his "A" and "B" teams Tuesday in preparation for the exhibition games which start next Saturday.

He also said he plans to carry not more than 10 pitchers this season, which means it is doubtful if a rookie hurler can win a team berth. Tebbetts also will have seven infielders, six outfielders and three catchers.

Ray Boone Tries Hand at First Base

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Who to put on first base is one of the problems confronting Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers.

Four players — all of them major league veterans — are battling for the regular job. Only one, and possibly two, will get it. Right now it's pretty much of a tossup among Ray Boone, converted Detroit third baseman, Earl Torgeson, Eddie Robinson and Jack Phillips.

Canton Mermen Take State's Championship

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Canton McKinley High School scored 41 points Saturday to successfully defend its state high school swimming championship.

The Canton team's win marked its ninth state championship. In second place was Upper Arlington with 31 points, Columbus Academy and Lakewood tied for third and fourth with 25, and Cincinnati Central was fifth with 21 points.

All-Star Volleyball Action Slated at 'Y'

Two all-star teams selected from the service club volleyball league at the YMCA will clash Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on the big gym floor at the YMCA. A 'Y' spokesman today said the action was open to the public.

Selection of the all-stars was made by a vote of the players in the league. The teams will be selected just prior to the game tomorrow. The two squad will meet in a three-out-of-five match.

The YMCA House I won the league title and will be represented by five players on the all-star teams. They include Allen Augenstein, Don Hensel, Kenneth Fields, Elmer Wintringham and Robert Kelly. Second place YMCA II placed four men. These are Dan Day, Jim McBride, Jack Bray Jr., and Dr. Daniel Brickley Jr.

Other performers in the special clash will be George Wood, Dr. William Leffler and Art Haas of the Rotary Club; Harold Henry of the Y-Men's Club, and Dean Ludwig of the Kiwanis Club entry.

Ralph Branca Impresses Dodgers in Mound Stint

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Veteran Ralph Branca, attempting a comeback with the Brooklyn Dodgers, turned in an impressive mound stint in an intra-squad game Sunday.

The big righthander, who is on the St. Paul roster, pitched two scoreless innings and allowed only one hit.

Seek 11th Straight Spartans in Payoff Game After Amazing Comeback

By The Associated Press
The Spartans of Michigan State hope to cap one of the greatest comebacks in Big Ten basketball history with a victory over arch-rival Michigan and an undisputed championship.

Michigan State whipped Indiana 76-61, Saturday night to take over first place in the Western Conference. These same Spartans lost their first three Big Ten games and it wasn't until 35 days ago that they scored their first conference triumph.

Will Play in NCAA
Since then Michigan State has won 10 straight and will represent the Big Ten in the NCAA championships even if Indiana and Ohio State gain a share of the title.

Should Indiana and Ohio State both win tonight and Michigan State loses, all three would finish with 10-4 records. Michigan State, however, gets the NCAA bid because Ohio State is on probation and Indiana in 1954 was the last of these three teams to play in the post-season tournament.

While Michigan State battles at Michigan, Indiana will be home against Illinois and Ohio State invades Minnesota. Other games find Northwestern at Wisconsin and Iowa at Purdue.

Ohio State kept alive its hopes for a title share by defeating Northwestern, 84 - 70, Saturday. Other results were Minnesota 86, Illinois 75; Purdue 85, Wisconsin 66; and Michigan 83, Iowa 79.

The question tonight is can Michigan State defeat Michigan at Ann Arbor. It's been done this season when unpredictable Minnesota flattened the Wolverines 82-62.

Boston Celtics Capture First Division Title

BOSTON (AP) — Rookies Bill Russell and Tom Heinsohn have helped the firehouse Boston Celtics achieve a goal the veterans couldn't reach alone — their first Eastern Division championship in the 11-year old National Basketball Assn.

In recent years, the Celtics have been the high-scoring, fast-breaking sensations of the league but their backcourt play could not carry them to the top.

It was Russell, the agile 6-10 Olympic star, who applied the clincher Sunday when Boston defeated Rochester 111-102 for the division crown to supplant defending World Champion Philadelphia. Russell scored 30 points and 24 rebounds.

After its five remaining regular-season contests, the Celtics will sit back and watch Philadelphia and Syracuse fight it out for the right to challenge them in the semifinals of the NBA playoffs beginning March 23.

Heinsohn, former Holy Cross ace, turned out to be another fine rebounder and came up with one of the hottest shooting hands on the club.

Meanwhile, in the Western Division, St. Louis kept alive its title hopes by defeating sectional leader Ft. Wayne 112-102 while Minneapolis downed New York 119-108 and Syracuse belted Philadelphia 112-86.

Surgery Saves Life of Boxer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A 266-pound heavyweight who narrowly missed death in a fight with a 335-pound South African was reported recovering in a hospital today.

Doctors said a 2 1/2-hour operation saved the life of Bruce Olson, the 6-foot, 4-inch Kent, Wash., fighter who suffered a brain hemorrhage in his bout with 7-foot, 2-inch Ewart Potgieter.

Olson was knocked out in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round bout Saturday night. Helped to his feet after the count, he took a few wild swings, sank onto his stool in the corner and collapsed.

At a hospital seven tiny holes were drilled in his skull before a blood clot was found, said Dr. Clinton McGill, Oregon Boxing Commission physician, who assisted a team of neurosurgeons in the operation.

McGill said it would be several days before they could tell whether recovery would be complete.

Olson will never fight again anyway, said his manager, Maxie Weisbarth of Seattle.

'Y' Swimmers Swamp Squad From Newark

The Marion YMCA swimming teams swept a pair of Central Ohio league meets from the Newark YMCA in the local pool Saturday. The wins raised the teams' season record to 17-9 as the juniors won 46-22 and the preps 51-17 to close out league action for the locals.

The prep team won six events after Newark's Callender won the opening butterfly event. Freestyle Tom Shambaugh again was a double winner in his specialties while Joe Peacock took the backstroke, Mike Bartley won the diving and Bob White the individual medley. The freestyle relay of White, Shambaugh, Jack Howser and Peacock also won easily. The preps (2-4) finished in third place in the league behind undefeated Columbus YMCA and Lima YMCA.

One pool and two team records fell in the junior meet as the locals stamped themselves a strong contender for Ohio-West Virginia Area honors with a 9-0 record. The new pool and team mark was set by the freestyle relay team of Tom Sampley, Alan McKee, Bruce Kohler and Tom Prichard with a winning time of 1:53.8. The old mark by the Columbus Swim Club was 1:54.3. Tom Prichard took the individual medley in the fast time of 47.3 seconds for a new team mark, breaking his own time of 50.2 seconds set last week.

Individual wins also were made by Alan McKee in the butterfly, Bruce Kohler in the century freestyle, Prichard in the 50 yard freestyle, and undefeated diver Bob Finney.

Donkey Cage Play Slated Wednesday By PTA's Council

A benefit donkey basketball game, sponsored by the Marion City PTA Council, has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday in Taft Junior High School. Proceeds from the event will be applied to a fund for a teaching scholarship awarded in the schools each year.

Local post office workers will be aboard the donkeys. Comprising the teams will be John Hachten, Bud England, Sheridan Pierce, Jim Rider, Tom Moran, Rodney Kilbury, Bob Shoemaker, Norman Ralston, Orley Fout and Howard Richardson.

A preliminary game will be played between teams from the Vernon and Silver St. Schools, with a halftime performance to be presented by the Martha Douce Dance Studio.

Mrs. Donald Strickland, project chairman of the PTA council, is in charge of the event, assisted by Arthur Burchette, Howard Baker and William O. Dudley.

Admission will be 60 cents for adults and 35 for children. Refreshments will be sold.

Calvary, Epworth, 'Y' Cagers in Wins

Calvary, Epworth and the YMCA House entry were winners Saturday night in Church League basketball action at the YMCA.

Calvary laced the Central Christian squad by a 76-29 count while Epworth moved into a playoff battle with a slim 49-48 edge over Lutheran. The YMCA house squad was awarded a forfeit over Trinity.

Klingel pumped in 20 points to lead his Calvary mates to their decision over Central Christian. Craven's 13 was high for the losers.

The Lutheran cagers missed a chance to send the Epworth battle into an overtime when Bob Baughman missed a free throw after the final buzzer. The Lutheran ace dropped in his first attempt but the second try rimmed the basket.

Williams had 17 points for the Epworth squad while Specker led the Lutheran attack with a 22-point production. Epworth will meet Calvary in a playoff for the league title with the game tentatively scheduled for Friday night.

Crawford's Attendance Near Figure of 1956

BUCYRUS — Attendance at the annual six-session Crawford County Class A basketball tournament held last month at Bucyrus High School was virtually the same as in 1956. County School Supt. W. S. Ferguson reported today.

A total of 5,380 admissions were sold this year, bringing in $3,502 while 5,396 admissions were sold last year and 5,439 in 1955. An additional $59 was received in program donations. Expenses totaled $1,440, including $425 for officials at $25 a game and $210 for rental of the school auditorium.

H. J. Gary, tournament manager and superintendent at North Robinson School, said net profit amounted to $2,120 compared with $2,193 last year and $2,317 in 1955.

Pearl II Captures First Victory in Gra-Y Finale

Pearl II recorded its first win of the campaign in Gra-Y basketball action Saturday at the YMCA. The Pearl St. squad edged a highly-rated George Washington squad 15-14.

Queen with six points was the big gun in the winners' attack while Metzger scored five and Fralich had four. Baehr popped in 10 points to lead the losers.

The Saturday game was the final one in the Gra-Y program for this year. Playoffs for the city championship is scheduled Saturday at 1 p.m. at the YMCA. Pearl I, champions on the Red League, with a 9-0 record will meet Silver, Blue League titlists with a 6-1 mark.

Finishing behind the Red League champs were Glenwood, 5-4; Vernon 4-5, and Olney 0-9. Final Blue League standings behind the Silver St. champs were Washington with a 4-3 mark and Pearl II with a 1-6 record.

The National Football League drafted five Syracuse football players — Jim Brown, Jim Ridlon, Bill Brown, Jerry Cashman and Don Althouse.

THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation

When the wind blows — this baby won't rock!

You can buck the strongest blasts of March in The Mighty Chrysler without road-sway or hard steering. Impartial wind tunnel tests proved that Chrysler's high rear fins cut down tail-wagging in the wind just as an airplane's vertical tail section prevents side-sway.

Wind or no wind, Chrysler's Torsion-Aire Ride makes the sharpest turns, the quickest stops, the roughest roads a breeze to take. No other fine car has this exclusive combination of torsion bars, rubber-isolated ball-joints, and outrigger rear springs. It gives you the comfort and safety of a luxury car with the "feel" and roadability of a sports car.

Combine this new kind of suspension with an up-to-325 horsepower engine, a satiny new pushbutton-operated Torque-Flite transmission*, plus all the other 1957 improvements your Chrysler dealer will show you, and you'll agree — this is your car!

Cases Kept Up to Date

Judge Paul Smith Cited For Efficiency of Court

The Marion County Common Pleas Court, Judge Paul D. Smith presiding, apparently is one of Ohio's most efficiently operated judicial bodies. Such is the conclusion drawn from a report just released by John W. McMillan, administrative assistant to the Ohio Supreme Court's Chief Justice, Carl V. Weygandt.

Commenting on the findings of his report, Mr. McMillan was quoted as saying that "for counties in the population range of that of Marion, Judge Smith definitely has his docket in the best shape. Judge Smith is to be commended for the efficiency with which he has held down the number of cases pending on his docket."

MR. McMILLAN ALSO noted that "from all indications, Marion County's probate court docket is also in commendable shape." He added that "it appears as if Judge Edward J. Ruzzo has been doing an excellent job."

The report indicates that the local common pleas court had fewer pending cases on Jan. 31, than any other common pleas court, in counties of comparable size. This figure is based on the estimated 1956 as determined by the Ohio population of each county in State Board of Liquor Control.

Only 165 cases were on the docket here as of Jan. 31. This compared to the 147 cases on file on Dec. 31, 1956, and the total of 476 actions docketed overall last year.

The report, according to Mr. McMillan, is based on the summations of a survey designed to ascertain the volume of litigation on the court's dockets, the time elapsing between filing and the disposition of cases, and the average amount of time required of individual judges in their efforts to maintain a current docket.

The survey emphasizes, however, that because this compilation of judicial statistics was somewhat of an innovation in Ohio, some of the final figures were not complete "and only those which appeared arithmetically correct were used."

Based on a population estimate of 56,022 for 1956, the Marion court's docket of only 165 pending cases was easily the top achievement for counties its size. Some courts, in which population figures were half as high as those for Marion, showed dockets containing more than twice as many pending cases.

FOR THE MOST part, only one judge is assigned to each of the courts concerned in the report. Ironically, in the case of Cuyahoga County, where 19 judges preside, a total of 13,824 cases was pending as of Jan. 31. The report shows 13,878 cases awaiting action as of Dec. 31, 1956.

Judge Smith disposed of 41 litigations during January, and the record indicates approximately six months or less elapsing between filing dates and action before the bench.

Three of Marion's neighboring counties did not furnish data for the report. These were Hardin, Union and Wyandot. All three are smaller than Marion, population-wise. Morrow County had 47 cases pending as of Jan. 31, but the county's population total was estimated at only 18,985 last year. Crawford County, with a population of 43,157, had 179 cases pending, while Delaware County, population 32,523, had 154 cases awaiting judicial action as of Jan. 31.

Mr. McMillan's report notes that the Marion court disposed of 41 cases during January of this year, 11 cases more than that accomplished by the Delaware judicial body, which took 30 actions from its docket over the same period.

Hardin County's Common Pleas Court disposed of 24 actions in January; Crawford, 22; Union, 18; and Morrow, 13. Wyandot's figures for cases acted on were not available.

THERE WERE seven cases pending in the Third District Court of Appeals from Marion, as of Jan. 31, the same number listed on the docket for action as of Dec. 31, 1956.

Mr. McMillan, in issuing his report on the state's common pleas dockets, said he found the response to this first request for progress information "most gratifying," and expressed hope that subsequent reports will be both more complete and more comprehensive.

A report on the efficiency and operations of Ohio's courts, similar to this first one on Common Pleas activities, is planned as a regular publication from the state chief justice's office.

One of the most valuable mineral deposits in Cuba today is nickel. Next to Canada and New Caledonia, Cuba ranks third in world production of this metal. The man who discovered it there was Christopher Columbus.

Traffic Crash Kills 4, Injures 5 in Kentucky

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A West Virginia couple and two of their children were killed and five other persons were injured, two critically, late Sunday in a highway accident on U.S. 23 about two miles south of Virgie.

Dead are Adam Johnson, 30, his wife, Edith, 29, an 11-year-old son, Leon, and a daughter, Bobbie Lou, 3, all of Newtown, Mingo County.

Two other Johnson children, Etta Mae, 12, and Tommy, 6, were in critical condition. The others injured in the accident were Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Juna Browning, 29, also of Newtown, and her nine-month-old daughter, Rhonda. Mrs. Browning and her daughter were in fair condition.

The Johnsons and their son died in the crash. The daughter died early today in a Pikeville hospital. State police said all nine were in a car which sideswiped another automobile, went out of control, and rammed into the rear of a parked coal truck.

Lady Farmers

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—

Women tobacco farmers? Right. And good ones, too.

On one day during the burley auctions here last season, crops marketed by three women brought the highest average price. The high quality of their tobacco helped boost the price per hundred pounds by $1.07 over that of the previous day.

House Burns to Ground In Village Near Ashley

ASHLEY—Ashley firemen were unable to combat a strong wind which swept the area Sunday morning and a home in S Woodbury northeast of here burned to the ground.

The firemen were called out at 11:30 Sunday morning to the Craig residence in the small village. Flames had a good start in the six room frame home which was undergoing repairs. The wind fanned the flames and the firemen were unable to prevent the structure from burning to the ground. No estimate was made of the loss.

Through the aid of the Rockefeller Foundation, the malarial mosquito has been almost wiped out in the major island of Sardinia, 120 miles west of the foot of the Italian boot. Roman emperors once sent enemies there to die from malarial fever.

Marion Foremen To Hear Official Of Central Soya

Speaker for a Marion Foremen's Club meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Columbian Hall will be Paul E. Hensel, vice president in charge of personnel administration for the Central Soya Co., Inc., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Mr. Hensel received his education at Illinois Wesleyan and the State University of Iowa, served as athletic director at the high school in Gibson City, Ill., for ten years and also was on the coaching staff at the University of Michigan two years. He served as personnel director with Central Soya from 1945 to 1954 when he was named vice president in charge of personnel.

He is a past president of the American Society for Personnel Administration, a member of the American Management Association, was chairman of the advisory board of directors of Central Soya Co. in 1954 and 1955 and is a member of the American Arbitration Panel.

News of Granges

BETHLEHEM

Five applications for membership were received when Bethlehem Grange met Wednesday night. Clarence Gruber, master, announced degree work will be conferred March 27. The first degree will be by the officers of Bethlehem Grange in charge of Miss Marie Bender and the second degree will be by Wheelstone Grange.

The program was presented by the men with Warren Clune in charge. Group singing was led by Oscar Kaelber, jokes were told by Mr. Clune and two films were shown by James Hall, "Future Farmers of America" and "The Price of Freedom." A contest was conducted by Mr. Kaelber.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Beringer and Mrs. Ralph Williams. For the next meeting March 13, the FHA girls from Prospect will present a spring style review. On the refreshment committee will be Mrs. Paul Fogle, Mrs. Alfred Fogle and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Scott and members are to bring a covered dish and sandwiches.
